GOSSIP ON MR. BLAINE.

How His Stock Has Risen in Washington Lately.

HIS NAME ON EVERY TONGUE.

The Most Popular Man Today; How the West is Booming Him.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The correspondence of the New York Herald writes today that there is no doubt that James G. Blaine is growing into a big presidential possibility again. His receding ideas, which are now commencing to mature, are popular beyond a doubt. Whether or not those ideas are exemplifications of the best statesmanship and the safest policy for the country does not enter into the question at all. The mere fact is that those ideas are popular. Blaine has always been popular. The death of Sherman and the natural consequence of the repudiation of Sherman's letters of 1884 that appeared a short time ago in the North American Review, in which he showed Blaine's kindness and willingness when he himself was the leading Presidential possibility, to step aside for Sherman, has crystallized sentiment in his favor.

In all directions he is realized to be a great favorite. Especially in the West are coming letters daily urging the claims of Mr. Blaine, many believing him to be the only possible candidate who can defeat Grover Cleveland.

A Necessary Prohibition.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The committee on Indian affairs has reported back to the house the bill to prevent the sale of fire arms and ammunition to Indians. The committee recommends that the bill be passed.

PROFESSOR WINCHELL DIES.
The Great Geologist Goes the Way of All Flesh.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 19.—Professor Alexander Winchell died this morning. For a short time he recovered from the stupor into which he sank yesterday, but it was but temporarily, and he died gradually to his death. He died surrounded by his family.

Alexander Winchell was born in Dutchess county, N. Y., Dec. 31, 1829. After obtaining a grammar-school education he went into Berkshire county, Massachusetts, with the purpose of preparing for the practice of medicine. But he entered America seminary and followed his graduation there with a college course at Wesleyan university, where he took his degree in 1847. In 1853 he came to the University of Michigan as professor of geology, where he has since occupied the professorship of geology and paleontology. Dr. Winchell was at two different times state geologist of Michigan and has also been connected with the United States geological survey. He was prime mover in the organization of the American Geological society, of which he is president. The leading societies of America and many of those in Europe have Dr. Winchell on the roll of their members.

His unflagging industry is attested by the long list of additions he has made to the scientific literature of the country. His writings are remarkably successful in presenting science in a popular and entertaining form, without any loss of accuracy. His work has been fruitful in results, and his literary labors have been an inestimable influence toward the popularization of the sciences. Dr. Winchell's brother is state geologist of Minnesota and professor of the science in the state university, while his nephew has made the valuable researches in the iron districts of Minnesota. Professor Winchell himself has made several investigating trips about Duluth and is well known here.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 19.—The New York owners of the Pacific Short Line have sold the road to the A. S. Garretson syndicate. The line is to be built through to Ogden. Traffic contracts have been concluded with the Rock Island and the Chicago-Milwaukee, which companies will be the Union Pacific.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 19.—The biggest deal in connection with electric companies ever transacted in the Southwest was consummated today. Three hundred thousand dollars was the amount paid by the LaCade Gas company, of this city, to purchase all of its rivals in the electric lighting field and secure the complete control of gas and electric illumination in St. Louis.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Feb. 19.—A document issued from the prohibition state headquarters located here, calls on prohibitionists to contribute $500 per month to push the cause of temperance in this state. The first installment will be collected the last of March. The funds raised will be used to secure legislation in behalf of the temperance cause.

MINNEAPOLIS EXPOSITION FUND.

WOMEN TO VOTE AFTER ALL.
TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 19.—The vote by which the bill authorizing women to vote was recently defeated in the house has been reconsidered and the bill finally passed.

SHERMAN'S LAST RIDE.

Obsequies in New York; Impending Military Career.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—New York is today doing honor to the memory of William Tecumseh Sherman. Business is suspended to a large degree. Flags fly at half-mast from thousands of roofs and upon many buildings, public and private. The funeral of the great general is being celebrated in a grand and dignified manner. The morning a steady stream of pedestrians passed the house at 75 West Seventy-first street, which was the scene of the general's last battle with the grim destroyer. A large number of prominent people were admitted to the residence but only the members of the family were permitted to view the remains.

Thomas Sherman, the son whose arrival has been so anxiously awaited, arrived at 1 o'clock this morning. Touching the subject of General Sherman's religious belief he said: "My father was baptized in the catholic church, married in the catholic church and attended catholic services until the outbreak of the civil war. Since that time my father had not been a communicant, and he was a member of the catholic church. A week ago today my father received absolution and the rite of extreme unction at the hands of Father Taylor. He was unconscious at the time."

Between 1 and 2 o'clock brief services were held in the drawing room of the residence and the military procession formed on Broadway and Fifth avenue. The army escort proper was under the command of Colonel M. Landon of the First artillery and consisted of the various battalions of infantry and regulars stationed in the vicinity of New York harbor, as well as the First artillery, U. S. A., Dillenback's light battery, the twenty-four gun batteries of the national guard, the first troop of cavalry, U. S. A., and Troop A of the national guard.

Shortly before 2 o'clock the caquet was borne from the residence and placed on the caisson. The caquet was a plain open one, covered with black cloth and lined with white satin. The caquet was borne by silver bars on either side, and on the top a silver plate bearing only the name and date of birth and death. It was partially covered with the national flag and the general's sword rested below the inscription plate. The column marched in this order:

The army followed by the caisson, with an escort of honor from the Lafayette post of the Grand Army of the Republic, encompassing the caisson as well as the pall bearers who followed in carriages. Then came carriages containing the members of the family, President Harrison and Vice-President Morton, ex-President Hayes and Cleveland, the special committees of the senate and house of representatives, Governor Hill and Mayor Grant.

In the second column the Loyal Legion had the right of line. Then came the Grand Army post and on either side of the imperial funds in Canada, but they are loath to contribute anything thereto. Canada has already spent something like $100,000 in a large graving dock at Esquimaux, where the largest war vessels of the Pacific fleet may be docked and repaired. She bears the cost of the dock and the cost of the repairs. The fact that the imperial funds in Canada, but they are loath to contribute anything thereto. Canada has already spent something like $100,000 in a large graving dock at Esquimaux, where the largest war vessels of the Pacific fleet may be docked and repaired. She bears the cost of the dock and the cost of the repairs.

The fact of the matter is that the Canadian authorities see that the Canadian coast cannot be a dangerous mission to be arising over imperial concerns. The only people with whom the colony could have trouble would be the United States, and the United States, an undoubtedly diplomatic rather than a military task. This may account for the fact that he, an attaché of the English embassy in Russia, was chosen for the post of chief of the Canadian militia rather than a mere soldier. The importance attached to the defense of the British Columbia shows that the fact feared in that quarter is Russia, with her great naval arsenal of Vladivostok on the Siberian coast.

KYLE INELIGIBLE.
So it is Claimed in Some Circles; The Politician's Position.

HONOLULU, S. D., Feb. 18.—It is asserted by prominent attorneys that Senator-elect Kyle, in addition to being ineligible on account of not receiving a majority of votes of the whole legislature, is not an inhabitant of South Dakota; that he owes no money to the state and that he is not a citizen of the state. The Honorable says that Mr. Kyle was simply a missionary or an agent of a foreign church society, subject to its laws and not a citizen of the state. Many fear that the independents will now be able to gain the ascendancy in the state. The party is new and has drawn their strength almost entirely from the republicans.

There have now been three parties in this country for any length of time. Ultimately the independents will go to one of the old parties. But the republicans, from the republican party, which has much of their sympathy still, they may, under proper management, be won back. Hence it is not difficult to see in their present defeat a ray of sunshine which will be a benefit to the real republican of the state. Now is the time for the clearest and best men to take hold of things. If the right men come to the front and if conciliatory tactics are followed, the independents may soon find their way back into the republican ranks.

INGERSOLL DECLINED.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Robert G. Ingersoll has returned from his Western excursion and explained today the report sent from Minneapolis that he was to meet Ignatius Donnelly in joint debate. Donnelly to defend his Baconian cryptogram, the colonel to uphold the Shakespearean end of the controversy.

Pythian Anniversary.
CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Today is the anniversary of the introduction of Pythianism into the United States, and throughout the country the members of the Order of Pythians will meet in their respective halls and celebrate the event with appropriate ceremonies. There is special cause for congratulation and rejoicing over the progress which the order has made throughout the country as well as in the fact that universal peace, prosperity and harmony pervades every jurisdiction.

NOT COMMERCIAL UNION.

But Political Union What Canadian Liberals Want.

SO SAYS THE LONDON TIMES.

The Possible Success of Liberals in the Present Conflict but the Beginning.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Times says that the ultimate issue of the present Canadian political struggle is whether Canada will enter the American union or stay an integral part of the British empire. The pending election will not decide it, says the Times, because if the liberals are victorious they will find it only the beginning of their long and arduous task of convincing the Canadian provinces in general that they would see fair play and fair commercial treatment in the American union of states.

If the weaker American states are systematically driven to the wall, what chance of fair play would Canada get in any scheme of commercial union with the American union? Without representation in congress her position would be intolerable and she would be compelled to abandon commercial union. The Americans know this and are frank enough to make it the basis of all discussions on the subject. It would settle all the real issue while pretending that it has no necessary connection with union, reciprocity, and the like, is all the more to be deplored.

PACIFIC COAST DEFENSES.

Gen. Herbert, of Canada, Charged with the Execution of an Important Mission.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 19.—Gen. Herbert, commander of the Canadian militia, has arrived here on his way to the Pacific coast, where he will inspect the coast defenses. He is charged with the execution of an important mission which has been warmly supported by the imperial war authorities. The Horse Guards have long had definite plans for the defense of the coast, and the fact of the matter is that the Canadian authorities are not averse to the strengthening of the coast defenses. The imperial funds in Canada, but they are loath to contribute anything thereto. Canada has already spent something like $100,000 in a large graving dock at Esquimaux, where the largest war vessels of the Pacific fleet may be docked and repaired. TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 19.—The vote by which the bill authorizing women to vote was recently defeated in the house has been reconsidered and the bill finally passed.

THE INDEPENDENTS.

How They Will Organize and the Votes They Expect.

OMAHA, Feb. 19.—An address has just been formulated and sent out by the alliance which proposes to push the movement for a national independent party in 1892, which is to include all the labor organizations now under scattering rule. The address points out the ease with which the alliance did battle in 1890 and shows how they may be followed up, speaks of the difficulty of uniting the labor bodies and says: "In Nebraska last summer a plan was devised which ignored societies and organized the units which composed them. The plan was remarkably successful, resulting in the casting of over 70,000 ballots for an independent reform ticket. The national alliance, at its Omaha session just closed, has adopted practically the same plan for action in 1892. It is a proposition made to all the industrial organizations of the nation. It provides an easy machinery by which the demand for a new national movement can be tested, and an easy and effective plan by which a national nominating convention may be called. It adopts as a platform the six planks upon which the largest disorganizers. The plan provides the highest statesmanship, and if it is met by the other industrial societies in the spirit in which it is tendered, it will set the pace for 1892, and result in the election of a people's national ticket."

The six planks upon which the new party is expected to stand as a unit are framed as a "declaration of principles." The petition is as follows:

"We hereby declare our allegiance to the following principles:

1. The free and unlimited coinage of silver.
2. The abolition of national banks and the substitution for their notes of legal tender treasury notes, and the increase of currency to $500 per capita.
3. Government ownership of all railroads, telegraphs and telephones.
4. The prohibition of alien ownership of land, and of gambling in stocks, options and futures.
5. The adoption of a constitutional amendment requiring the election of president and vice president and United States senators, by direct vote of the people.
6. The Australian ballot system. And we hereby express our wish for a national independent convention to nominate candidates for president and vice president on the above platform, and we hereby agree that if pure, able, and honorable men are so nominated, we will support them and vote for them in preference to any other candidates.

To the petition they expect to get from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 signatures, each signer virtually pledged to vote the nominees of the party, and on the number of signatures in every district will be apportioned the representation of that district in the convention. It is expected to get 250,000 signatures in Illinois and nearly as many in Indiana, 200,000 each in Ohio, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota; 100,000 in the Dakotas, while the East, South and other Western states are looked for in multiples.

Attracting the Jews in Russia.
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A mammoth petition is being circulated here, in Chicago and Philadelphia in behalf of the Jews in Russia. It is proposed to present it to President Harrison and Secretary of State Blaine with the request that a diplomatic note be sent to the powers suggesting an international conference to study and consider the question of whether it is possible to give Palestine to the Jews in Russia as a permanent home and country.

Schooner Run Down.
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The steamer Havel, of the German Lloyd line, which left this port late yesterday afternoon for Bremen, ran down the Italian schooner Mascot near the entrance of the harbor. The collision occurred when the Havel was under almost full headway off Bay Ridge. The Mascot was struck amidships and cut clean in two. She sank in thirty feet of water. Both were lowered and eleven of her crew were saved. Two boys were lost. A tug brought the survivors to the city.

Westinghouse Affairs.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 19.—George Westinghouse, Jr. today said that the story about the consolidation of the Westinghouse company with the Thomson-Houston company was untrue. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Westinghouse Electric company, Mr. Westinghouse reported the amount of stock agreed to be taken by creditors, conditioned upon at least 40,000 shares being subscribed had been 37,000 shares, and that parties in the East had guaranteed to take 5000 shares in addition.

Another Kansas Failure.
TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 19.—The John D. Knox & Co., banking house closed its doors. The liabilities are said to be $250,000. The assets are principally land equities, unpaid coupons, bills discounted, tax sale certificates, etc. The total value of the assets cannot be definitely determined, but Mr. Knox claims at a fair valuation they will aggregate $450,000.

Crooked County Officials.
GREENWICH, Ia., Feb. 19.—An expert accountant has been examining the county books and finds a shortage of $8000 in the ex-auditor's accounts and $3500 in those of the clerk. The latter has confessed and will probably make good the shortage. It is probable that the defalcating auditor will be arrested.

Prisoners Lynched.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 19.—Two prisoners under arrest for complicity in numerous assaults were taken from the county jail at Gainesville late last night and hanged. A mob of 300 or more assembled, overpowered the guard, took the prisoners from their cells and hanged them to trees near by.

West Duluth's Charter Put on General Orders.

AND WILL COME UP TOMORROW.

Boyd Confident of Success; Several Duluthians to go Down Tonight.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 19.—When the legislature met in session this morning the capitol was draped in mourning and many were mourning blades.

The committee on towns and counties early reported the West Duluth charter bill, which will be placed on general orders and acted upon by the house. Yesterday afternoon the committee, after agreeing the day before to report the West Duluth charter bill without recommendation, got together and without any new testimony decided to recommend that it pass. The senate passed house file 62 detaching Cook from St. Louis and attaching it to Lake county for judicial purposes.

Among the Duluth visitors at the capitol are Mrs. Upham, Mrs. Ayers and Mrs. Kemp. The report of the committee on taxes and tax laws recommending indefinite postponement of the Leavitt bill repealing the law for the present tax on iron property was yesterday afternoon and asked that it be referred to committee. Senator Daugherty explained the effect the repeal of the present law would have on the iron country, asking that the matter be laid over.

It is quite generally believed that the West Duluthians will get a favorable vote on their charter in the house, while the senate appears doubtful. At any rate some lively hustling is expected of Duluth itself.

Reinforcements.
Quite a number of Duluthians will leave for St. Paul tonight to be on hand tomorrow when the charter bill of West Duluth will come up in the house.

Boyd Still Sanguine.
Mr. Boyd, you haven't given up the fight yet, have you?" said a St. Paul reporter yesterday afternoon. "Not by a blank sight. My bill providing for the incorporation of the city of West Duluth is just where it was a week ago. I never give up."

Stepniak at St. Paul.
ST. PAUL, Feb. 19.—Sergeant Stepniak, the celebrated Russian revolutionist and exile will lecture here tonight in the Metropolitan opera house. The home of this noted unfortunate is in London, where he is at present a member of the Times staff. Stepniak is actively engaged in opposing all measures tending to American extraction with Russia. He is the author of the book "Underground Russia" which brought him into prominence in 1884.

Compton a Surveyor General.
ST. PAUL, Feb. 19.—The Grand Army veterans in session here, have recommended by a unanimous vote, and have adopted resolutions requesting the Minnesota delegation in congress to use their influence to secure the appointment of their present commander, Jas. Compton of Fargo Falls, as surveyor general of this state. The annual election of officers was held today.

SOLID INVESTMENT.

Seney Tells Why He Prefers Pictures to Stocks and Bonds.
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—An original idea for investment is opened by the suggestion of George I. Seney, whose art sale was the event of last week in this city. He said that when he was compelled by business embarrassment to sell his collection of 1883, he found that the collecting of pictures could be made a profitable as well as a pleasurable venture, and as soon as he was financially able he began to buy pictures with that idea. "Stocks and bonds depreciate three or four times as much as pictures in a period of panic," said Mr. Seney, "and are as good an investment as a man can make, because they increase their value."

WISCONSIN RAILROAD LANDS.
Crowds Assembling at Ashland to Get in on Time Monday.

ASHLAND, Wis., Feb. 19.—The scene at the land office, who were mentioned in a measure that which Duluth witnessed at its recent "realty sale." Applicants for railroad lands open for entry here next Monday, began getting in line early this morning in the rear of the office. At noon about fifty stood in line, among them were several women. Some brought blankets and bed clothing prepared to stay.

The city is rapidly filling with strangers and the land officers predict a terrible crush.

OPERA HOUSE BURNED.
The Grand, of Rochester, Wrecked by an Explosion and Fire.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 19.—The Grand Opera house was today destroyed by fire from an explosion of some kind in the interior. The loss is estimated at $75,000. The explosion, though heavy, was not sufficient to do any great damage but did fire communicated to the building. But the partial wreck and the uncertain stability of the structure at the beginning of the fire, made it difficult for the firemen to accomplish much.

Adding to Citizens.
MADISON, Wis., Feb. 19.—A bill which Senator Woodworth has introduced provides that all foreign born men who served during the late war shall be citizens of Wisconsin without further proceedings for naturalization. The bill also gives the right of suffrage to persons of Indian blood who served in the army. The measure would affect about 4000 men.

It Looks Like Foster.
SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Governor Foster, who was mentioned as the probable successor of the late Secretary Windom, was yesterday called to New York by a telegram from President Harrison. Foster left for the East last night.

THE CONTRAST.

The Superior Telegram of last evening contains an editorial showing the remarkable contrast between the money making in Duluth as a city and the losses suffered by its newspapers.

It says: "Since the newspapers were established the growth of the city has been marvelous. Great public improvements have been brought about; more men have acquired wealth than in any city of the same size, and the wealth is all due to the work done by the newspapers in forcing up values and attracting immigration. Very few men lost money by investment in Duluth, but the newspapers of the city have lost not less than a quarter of a million dollars for various owners. The history of the newspapers of Duluth during the past five years would be in marked contrast to the history of any other institution at the head of the lakes. While all conditions of men and classes of business have been making money the newspapers have lost. With all of them it has been a struggle against fate, and that fate personified in the business men of the city—men who owed mostly all of their gains to the pertinacious endeavor of the newspapers to create a place for themselves by building a city."

There is a good deal of error in these statements. There is also a good deal of truth—too much for the credit of Duluth business men. Business men here who have steadily refused to pay a dollar to the newspapers in the way of advertising, etc., have fallen like rotten apples into the schemes of outside fakirs who infest Duluth with the most silly and insane projects for getting the dollar. Cheap books, written and printed hundreds of miles away, and entirely inaccurate and untruthful; cheap maps; poor fakey pictures of monetary interest; in fact all sorts of possible and impossible schemes have been enriched by the dollars of those whom the local newspapers have assisted by advertising and booming the city.

CHARITY AT HOME.
The leading clergymen of Chicago, says the Post, have had an opportunity to express their opinion on the relative importance of foreign and home mission work, home mission work in this sense meaning the alleviation of physical distress as well as the elevation of the moral nature. It is to their credit that, while upholding the value of effort in foreign fields, they should not hesitate to place themselves upon record as favoring a more lively activity among those at home who need assistance.

To this conclusion all thinking persons will voice a hearty amen. There is room for difference of views as to the value of foreign mission work. And even among church people who contribute the money for that purpose there is a variety of opinions. But everyone knows the benefit of home missionary labor; and home missionary labor to be effective should consist of something more than preaching.

We have with us all the time, even here in Duluth, where abject poverty is almost unknown and where the agencies for both moral and physical help are active, hundreds of people who need some assistance and whose souls are hungry for counsel and consolation. Charity should always begin at home. And it would not be inhuman to let the conversion of the heathen rest for a period, while those of our communities who are suffering for aid and advice should be given assistance.

and have undertaken the chief part of the expense involved therewith. Congress is now asked to appropriate $25,000 for the supply of arms to the newly created naval force. The lack of men for the regular navy in its ordinary work, to say nothing of reserves, was never more marked than it is now. The naval militia comes in to furnish an auxiliary support to the regular naval establishment analogous to that which the national guard of the states would supply to the army in case of an emergency arising from the menace of war. The arms with which it is to be provided by the government will remain the property of the United States, and be used only for drilling and training the naval militia for its duties in the defense of the country. The whole burden of preparing this valuable adjunct of coast protection and body of trained gunners has been assumed by the states, and the navy department has signified its intention to lend the needed vessels for this purpose. The coming summer ought to see the naval militia in full operation.

McArthur Bros., the dago hunters and labor importing contractors, who have done so much in their public contracts in Duluth to injure the resident workmen of this city, are likely to be brought up standing in Chicago in a way that no one here will regret. A paper of that city says of them: "As to the contractors who succeeded in this alleged competition, are they now in a position to declare that no American citizen or intending American citizen, no man living as an American should live, no man who is too proud of his name to submit to be known simply by a number—no civilized and self-respecting human being, in a word, shall have employment on this work? Is it true, as is alleged and partially admitted, that these contractors have sought out all the semi-barbarian men culottes that have broken through Castle Garden, and are scouring the purlieus of European cities for more?" Nothing ever happened in Duluth that has given such strength to the demand for day labor on city contracts, now voiced by the alliance, as the methods pursued by this firm, McArthur Bros., and by its utter disregard of Americans and honest American labor the firm has lost all claim to sympathy.

SEEN AND HEARD.

The grave and solemn manner in which Spotted Horse and the other Sioux braves at Washington have been talking about the "bad rights" at the battle of Wounded Knee last month is amusing to whoever knows the real man. Admire what qualities we may in the Indian, he will always be found cold, unsympathetic and intensely cruel. The torturing of dogs and cats and the everyday cruelties that go on at every reservation make a white visitor's gorge rise. In battle an Indian sees no cruelty, when Washington, where the Indian is surcharged with politics, he suddenly becomes humane. It seems.

The modern city house has brought about the shrinkage of most articles of furniture and the invention of the upright piano, the folding bed, the stationary tub, the enclosed refrigerator, and a score of room-saving devices. And now art is feeling the cramping influence. The old portrait of the next decade will no longer be a gigantic canvas in a large frame. The full length portraits have been supplanted by the modern apartments, and full-length portraits are now being painted to go in frames only three feet high and twenty-five or twenty-six inches wide.

"Apropos of Gen. Sherman," remarked a gentleman yesterday, "I recalled a pleasant incident at New York theater several years ago when I happened to be there. Florence was playing the part in which he is continually reminded of something, and he introduced each story by the preface, 'When I was so and so,'—and he had been everything from a marshal of France to a Western deputy sheriff. Toward the end of the last act he suddenly remarked: 'By the way that reminds me when I was marching through Georgia'—here he stopped, and the orchestra took up the familiar air, while the audience here and there began to applaud. Then a stately figure appeared at the front of one of the boxes, smiling and bowing. Not a mention of his name had been made, but when the music began everybody instantly recognized Sherman, and everybody applauded until the music ceased, and the general, with a smile, disappeared in the background. I noticed then that he seemed to be an old man."

It would seem that in a city wherein many fires are kept up there must be a moderating effect upon the surrounding atmosphere—in short, that any city must act like a great stove set upon the earth's surface. However, a scientific genius in New York who has applied himself to the inquiry, finds that the amount of coal consumed in that vast heat generator is capable of giving out only the warmth of an equal area of the Gulf stream. Were the town roofed over the effect would be that of a constant mild summer heat, but as it is, the vast body of the atmosphere is not appreciably affected. Were the air absolutely still the warmth might be detected by delicate instruments, but moving cold air dissipates it as fast as it is generated.

New York Press: Not a newspaper of national reputation speaking out daily and vigorously for protection in the four Southern states herein named. And yet the product of pig iron in 1878 and 1890 was as follows:

Alabama in	1878—37,038 tons.	1890—706,023 tons.
Virginia in	1878—15,114 tons.	1890—224,425 tons.
Texas in	1878—357 tons.	1890—5,037 tons.

Gen. Henry Hastings Sibley, first governor of the state of Minnesota, died yesterday at his home on Woodward avenue, St. Paul. His death was not unexpected, for since Sunday night at 2 o'clock he has been unconscious and it was well understood that this sickness would be his last.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in St. Paul church, St. Paul, of whose rectory he has been a member since the church's organization.

Gen. Sibley was born at Detroit, Feb. 30, 1811, received an academic education and subsequently enjoyed two years' private tuition in the classics. About the age of 17 young Sibley went to Sault Ste. Marie, and engaged himself in mercantile operations. In 1829 he went to Mackinac and entered the service of the American Fur company as clerk. He remained at that post five years. In 1834 Mr. Sibley was admitted as a partner in the American Fur company. On May 2, 1843, he was married to Miss Sarah J. Steele of Fort Snelling. He had previously, in 1836, erected at Mendota, the first private dwelling built of stone in Minnesota. Mrs. Sibley died May 21, 1863. The first warrant for the arrest of a murderer issued by Gen. Sibley as justice of the peace in 1830.

On Oct. 30, 1848, Gen. Sibley was elected a delegate to congress from what was then considered as Wisconsin territory. During the session he was enabled by hard work to procure the passage of a bill to organize the territory of Minnesota. In the fall of 1849 he was again elected for two years and re-elected in 1850, serving over four years in all. In 1855 Mr. Sibley was elected a member of the Minnesota legislature from Dakota county, and in 1857 served as a member and president of the democratic caucus in the legislature. He was elected first governor of the state. Owing to the delay in the admission of Minnesota he was not inaugurated until Jan. 24, 1858. His term expired Jan. 1, 1860.

On Aug. 19, 1862, he was appointed by Governor Ramsey commander of the military forces sent to quell the Sioux outbreak, a task which he did effectually, and during the winter was appointed brigadier general commanding the Minnesota forces. In the following year he quelled the Sioux disturbances of the Northwestern frontier, and was also called to command in similar work in 1864-5, receiving as reward the rank of major general.

In 1871 General Sibley served another term in the legislature from St. Paul, of which city he became a resident in 1862. He was for a time regent of the state university and president of the state normal board and was also a member of the board of Indian commissioners. In life as a private citizen has been that of a leader, carrying with it the respect and admiration of all who knew him.

The Historic Hatchet.
We take the hatchet for our text, because tomorrow is the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, and the legend of the little hatchet is inseparably connected with the memory of the great man. And yet these matter-of-fact people who are so ready to sneer around among old documents and records say the pretty story is not true—and so another cherished belief is shattered. Still the hatchet remains an emblem for a truthful man (when it does not suggest the bad Indian with his tomahawk) through a good many of our fellow citizens have evidently "buried the hatchet," as it does not appear as a sign on their doors. Hadard men are supposed to have no use for the hatchet as a trade-mark—except the agents of "the Burlington," who have no need for anything but the hatchet in their line of business.

THE GROWTH OF INDUSTRIES.

Speaking of the growth of a great new industry at the head of the lake, the Superior Leader says:

Among the cities of the great lakes the business of manufacturing marine engines for our inland waters has been for many years perhaps equally divided. The Steel Barge line shipyard of West Superior is an enterprise that, taken in conjunction with the establishment of the new Marinette Iron works at Duluth, promises a new departure and an entirely new location for the production of marine engines of the screw propeller pattern. Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit have done creditable work in this line, and for years in sharp and skillful competition have been working to secure a high grade performance of the engine and economy in fuel.

Now the twin industries of ship and of marine engine building is very surely taking shape at the head of the lakes, and the vessel that is built for lake or ocean traffic will receive her equipment here. Such things are not developed in a day. The main portion of the preliminary work is already done, however, and the desirable outcome belongs to the future. Without a doubt it is the intention of those interested to provide an equipment of all that is necessary in new and improved tools to enable it to meet any requirement which the far-reaching marine interest demands, no matter how extensive its development may become.

The work of the Steel Barge company is already well known, and its intentions so far as they can be given the public, are already announced, but there are matters connected with the Marinette Iron works that are not generally understood. This company will soon have the largest and best machinery shop and foundry north or northwest of the big Allis works at Milwaukee, and that in addition to its tremendous trade in sawmills, the company is preparing to enter the ring for marine engine building.

Such, however, is the fact and it is entirely safe to say that within two years one of the largest marine engine building works in the Union will be located at Duluth.

The Marinette works has at its shops and ordered some of the heaviest steel and iron working machinery made; it has one of the leading marine engine architects of the lakes, a man who in the last two or three years has built many of the finest and largest engines now in use, and it already is at work on designs for a number of very large engines. The industry is established on the best foundations and it is bound to grow wonderfully, especially in connection with the Steel Barge works.

EPOCH OF ELECTRICITY.

Approximately of the thirteenth annual convention of the National Electric Light association, which opened at Providence this week it may be remarked that the advent of electricity as an agent of light, heat and power marks a distinctively new era in the world's mechanical history. In Providence there are assembled more than 500 electricians, who are there as delegates of companies and scientific associations, which aggregate thousands of the brightest, brainiest and most enterprising men of the country.

So recent is the practical development of electricity, notwithstanding its magnificent accomplishment, that the men who have done most to place it where it is by invention are living today, and almost a majority of them are attending this convention.

Just as the locomotive marked an epoch in the history of transportation, electricity marks an epoch in the history of artificial lighting, of the transmission of power, of rapid transit, of welding metals, of transmitting information and a thousand and one minor things. It is a Rip-Van-Winkle sort of village that has not changed its street gas lights for electric. The rapid transit problem has been solved in London by an underground electric road.

Of the future of electricity as an agent of light, heat and power it is best to say but little. Until some fundamental discovery has been made, such as the production of electricity without the intervention of heat, electricity will supplement the steam engine only so far as it transmits power. So far steam and electricity are partners, and when the electrician can dissolve the partnership, the world will witness such a state of progress as even this age of wonders has never dreamt of.

BUY AT HOME.

Steamfitters protest in The Herald today because of the recent letting of important contracts to out of town firms by men who are relying upon Duluth to make their money. There are many of these protests, and not only can steamfitters make them, but grocers, dry goods dealers, stationers, dressmakers, furniture and carpet men, newspapers, job printers, machinery makers of all kinds, tailors—everybody in fact who pretends to do business.

The Herald has hammered away at this thing for years, as many know. It but voices the general sentiment when it exclaims against the buying outside the shores that can be got at home, even if the home price is a little higher than that of outside firms. Buy at home, keep your money here, encourage those who have gone to expense to cater to trade, enable them by your purchases to cater better in quantity and quality and a tremendous push will be given to the march of Duluth.

It is, perhaps, one proof of the Bernhard's greatness as an artist that she is not made absolutely ridiculous by the stuff which she talks to the reporters and the stuff which the reporters write about her. Here is someone in a New York paper dating his account of a conversation with the French actress, "Seventh Heaven, 7 p. m.," and launching forth in this wise: "Hold me down, somebody, please. Hold me down; I am going to scold. Sam and I have just shaken hands. I feel her warm flesh still, clear to the tips of my fingers. It sent a thrill all over me. To touch divinity and live!" And this is written for grown men and women who live in an age that is supposed to be intelligent.

Americans are learning to seek sunshine within the borders of our own land, where there are fires to keep warm with and where the makers of hotels have some ideas of construction which will exclude the drafts that beset the hotels of southern Europe. There are more Duluthians and Westerners in Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Texas and California than ever before. Thousands of them are picking wild flowers and going about without overcoats or sealskins in citrus lands where the sun shines warm on the blossom and the vine.

The iron outlook appears to be slightly better, though still much depressed. An output of about 7,000,000 tons from the Lake Superior mines seems to be the general expectation at present.

Hard on Mr. Davies.

The Scandina of today, in speaking of Mr. Davies' appointment as assistant municipal judge, says: "We hope that his old discharge business in a more honorable manner than his predecessor; that he will give people their rights even if they are not very competent in English, and that he will not reckon it a crime if a man is unlucky enough not to have been born in this country."

A Protest.

To the Editor of The Herald: As the lookout of the printers by the Tribune office has given rise to some discussion in labor matters in general, we think it well that some other people should have a share of censure. We are informed that two Duluth men—both engaged in real estate business here, drawing their support from Duluth people and both building large apartment flats, think so of little what they owe in return to Duluth people that they let the steam contracts in two sets of flats to outside parties for sums considerably less than $50. We think if any Duluth citizens are buying real estate they would do well to patronize those who try to give some return for what they accumulate by purchasing what they need here if it does cost a little more, and thus keep the money in circulation here and give Duluth mechanics the benefit of the work.

J. COSGROVE, Sec.

NEW YORK PRESS: In 1873 we produced 6000 boxes of raisins. The product has been gradually increasing until the money value of the crop has reached $1,000,000 annually.

The McKinley bill puts 2½ cents per pound duty on raisins, which is 50 cents per box of 20 pounds. The pack of 1889 was 1,372,195 boxes.

In 1890 it was 2,197,463 boxes. Increase home production, 60 per cent in 12 months. Raisins are better and cheaper since we produce them at home.

R. P. Edison and W. D. Edison have formed a law partnership under the firm name and style of Edison & Edison. They will continue in the old office of Edison & Hanks, No. 9 West Superior street. The firm of Edison & Hanks is dissolved except for the purpose of closing up the business of said firm.

The Historic Hatchet.

We take the hatchet for our text, because tomorrow is the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, and the legend of the little hatchet is inseparably connected with the memory of the great man. And yet these matters of fact people, who go patiently musing around among old documents and records, say the pretty story is not true, and so another cherished belief is shattered. Still the hatchet remains an emblem for a truthful man (when it does not suggest the bad man who has been known to throw a good many of our fellow citizens have evidently "buried the hatchet," as it does not appear as a sign over their doors. Railroad men are supposed to have no use for the hatchet as a trade-mark—except the agents of "The Burlington," who have no need for anything but the truth in detailing the advantages and attractions of the 7000 miles of track of the system, the superb equipment, the fast time, the courteous treatment, the sure connections. Call on any railroad coupon ticket agent in the Northwest for confirmation, or write to W. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

TRAVEL IN MIDAIR.

One needs to take no more than a single glance at the yellow covered contrivance closely resembling a combination of fish and bird, with fins of white material, sailing so gayly and gracefully within a circumscribed space in the Exposition building at Chicago, to come to the conclusion that Mr. Pennington's experimental airship is a success. The space within which the course of the airship is confined may be circumscribed but it is all that is needed, for the model is a small one. Yet it is large enough to demonstrate the practical value of the invention. The numbers of people that visit the exposition come with incredulity stamped upon their features. They go away convinced that the problem of actual navigation in the experimental form has been solved.

Some years ago Mr. Pennington went to work, and for two years, in conjunction with his associate, R. H. Butler, he read all the books within reach on the topic, and it was soon plain to him that very little had been done in this direction. The next step was to look into the physical phenomena of the air and to devise some mechanical apparatus that would successfully subjugate them for its own benefit. The structure of the bird and the fish was accepted as nature's own idea of propulsion through air and water, and it was believed that the airship, combining the lightness and shape of the bird and the side and top fins of the fish would meet the requirements.

The model was constructed and tested and its success is unqualified. The mechanical principle by which the motion is secured is this: by means of a screw in front that revolves with greater or less rapidity, a vacuum is created in front of the buoyancy chamber, the resistance of the air is overcome and two powerful gas engines give the ship its own motion. The rudder is the rear section of the top fin, which directs the ship's course after it has attained its proper elevation. At the rear end of the ship is a tail like that of a bird, which, raised or lowered gives it upward or downward motion. It will be seen that as closely as possible the inventor has followed the principles of wise Dame Nature.

When the big machine now in process of construction is completed, this upper or fin rudder will be operated automatically and will be regulated by a compass acting on the electrical appliances. A barometer affects the tail rudder in the same way. The ship always forms a weather vane and is pointed toward the wind while standing or being raised or lowered. While ascending the two small propeller screws on each side must be run to lift the ship and the propeller driven at a speed to offset the wind's velocity. A reverse movement of the side propellers is necessary to lower it.

The possibilities of this ship and its influence upon the present methods of transportation are simply unlimited. Scientific experts who have seen the model in operation say that there is no doubt about its success in the largest form, provided it is not overpowered by the storms and the vagaries of the elements. It will be constructed wholly of aluminum, even to the engines. The only foreign substance will be the steel bands that inclose the shafts and the thin steel lining of the cylinders. The perfected ship will weigh 1350 pounds; the buoyancy chamber will be 170 feet in length and twenty-nine feet in diameter, and the lifting capacity will be 3000 pounds. It will be driven by hydrogen gas. The machinery will be driven by two gas engines, each of which will develop a horse power with every two and a half pounds of weight. They will be run by coal gas.

LEGISLATORS VISIT US.

Ten Members of the House Inspect Duluth Today.

ALLIANCE MEMBERS NOT HOGS.

Their Opinions on Changes in the Grain and Iron Tax Laws.

Ten members of the present legislature arrived in Duluth this morning, escorted by Representative O. D. Kinney, of Ely. They were C. E. Lorrimer, of Crookston; H. J. Lewis, of Alexandria; S. H. Ogstad, of Pelican Rapids; Wm. Carleton, of Angus; F. M. Durrie, of Mankato; A. T. Sinclair, of Winona; F. N. Wagener, of Donaldson; A. A. Gracie, of Hancock; and B. M. Chesley, of St. Paul. They were met here upon their arrival by the mayor, several members of the common council, Secretary S. A. Thompson, of chambers of commerce, ex-Mayor J. B. Sutherland and other prominent citizens.

This forenoon a trip was taken to Lakeside and Leroy Park. The party returned at 10:10 a. m. and visited the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and city hall buildings. This afternoon the party will be driven over the boulevard, and later will go to West Duluth. The members are scattered in various committees and are simply here out of curiosity and to see the big town at the head of the lakes which is doing so much hustling at the present time, to keep her unborn children from carrying out their policy of ruling the ranch or smelting the maternal rule tree.

One of the visitors upon the Herald when he was asked about the status of the legislative mind on the mining tax law changes and upon grain legislation, "I do not think that any radical changes will be made in the present laws. We shall certainly make ourselves sure that the change will be a benefit before it is made. I take it that the present legislature is a very conservative body. It is true that corporate interests have been running things to suit themselves for a long time and have shaped legislation largely to their own ends, but although this is not a good thing, we are by no means hazy or inconsiderate in matters which are so vital to public interests. These matters which you spoke of are much talked of among alliance men, and when legislation is introduced a fair chance will be given all interests to be heard before any measure is passed."

"We shall certainly look out for the interests of the people, and we will use the term of the day. Donnelly used the word 'earth' with Duluth thrown in. The railroad has had their own way for a long time, now let the farmer have a show. Let us have a turn at the bat all around and then the game will go more evenly on. It is probable that changes will be made in both of the statutes you referred to, but I do not anticipate anything of a radical nature."

"About the annexation measure, it is pretty hard to say anything definite at the present time, although I will say that the alliance men are very friendly to Duluth, and are disposed to regard her as an ally in the fight, with the twin cities on corporation legislation."

FIGHTING IN EGYPT.

Over a Thousand Derivatives are Killed by the Regular Troops.

APRIL 19, Egypt, Feb. 21.—A very severe engagement was fought at Tokar on Feb. 19 between the regular Egyptian troops, who recently left El Tab, and Osman Digma's force of dervishes. Nearly 1,000 lives were lost in the battle, which was won by the Egyptians. After the troops came together for over an hour a desperate hand-to-hand fight followed. Osman Digma's force, after seeing that his faithful followers had suffered a disastrous defeat, Osman, accompanied by about thirty horsemen, fled over the field, surveying loss. It is thought another engagement will take place tomorrow.

PUPPY SWEEPSTAKES.

Championship Dog Race Promises Novel and Interesting Sport.
NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 21.—The great dog-racing race for the puppy sweepstakes and the Police Gazette championship dog collar takes place this afternoon at Kearney's grounds, and over 300 dog-fanciers from Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey are here to see the sport. The entries comprise Joe Smith's Blue Jacket, Sam Buchanan's Lady McGrath, Tom Douglas' Fire, Andy Knowles' Jelly, Arthur Lee's Twig, Tom Fairhurst's Bawdy, Arthur Fairhurst's Valetta, Andy Clark's Richard R. Fox, Charles Clark's Blair Athol, and Fred Argyle's Sully.

The contest has created considerable interest throughout the middle states and several bodies have been opened on the race. Blue Jacket is the favorite, although Jenny and Lady McGrath as well as Sully have numerous friends.

INCREASE OF CAPITAL.

Illinois Steel Company, the Largest Corporation of the Kind.
CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The stockholders of the Illinois Steel Company, have decided to increase the capital stock of the corporation to the enormous amount of $50,000,000, just double what it is at present.

The capital stock authorized at the time of the formation of the Illinois Steel Company was $25,000,000, and there is now no more of this available for issue. There is outstanding $17,000,000. There are $6,200,000 bonds which are convertible into stock at the will of the holders, so that another $6,200,000 may be held in reserve. The 5 per cent stock dividend recently declared requires $888,000, and there is $140,000 held in trust for employees, etc., making a total of $24,228,000.

AN HONORED DAY.

How Washington's Natal Day Will be Celebrated in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Tomorrow is the anniversary of the birth of the father of his country, and throughout the country the day will be appropriately celebrated. In this city there will be tonight at least a score of celebrations at which men and women will sing and dance and make merry. Probably the principal demonstration will be under the auspices of the League of Personal Rights. This takes place in the large auditorium of Central Music hall tonight, and will be in the nature of a symposium tending to make the voting community of Chicago a little better in the matter of principle than it is at the present time. One orator will discourse on the subject of Gen. Stiles, the noted lawyer and veteran who now has the distinction of being the only blind legislator in the United States, will talk about the evils of partyism in the conduct of municipal affairs, and Hon. Robert Lindholm will talk about civil service reform. States have been reserved for ballot box stuffers, repeaters and other foes of an honest franchise, and the local habits of the gambling business of the city.

The order of United Americans will also celebrate Washington's natal day. Their program for the day includes a religious service and appropriate orations and tributes to the greatness and goodness of the general dispensation to parade in regalia today and tomorrow and to hold open meetings has been granted to all councils under the jurisdiction of the state council of Illinois.

THAT INFRINGEMENT SUIT.

Are Asked to Pay the Infringer $10,000; An Injunction Asked.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 21.—United States Marshal Wiswell has just served papers upon the members of the milling firm of Paist, Kraus & Co. in an infringement suit brought against them by the Duluth Imperial Mill company. The complaint sets forth that the Duluth mill was known as the "Imperial mill" and that the name has been placed on every sack and barrel of flour shipped from the mill since September, 1889. Paist, Kraus & Co. have been placed on every sack and barrel of flour shipped from the mill since September, 1889. They claim that for a year past Paist, Kraus & Co. have been selling flour branded in imitation of the Duluth flour, with the intent to deceive. It is alleged that Paist, Kraus & Co. put flour up in packages similar in shape to those used by the Duluth firm, branded them with the word "Imperial," and also represented that the flour was made in Duluth by the use of the term "Duluth Roller Mills" on the packages. The Duluth company claims that it is damaged to the extent of $5000 and asks damages. It also asks for injunctions restraining Paist, Kraus & Co. from using the trademark.

RYAN'S PLANS.

He Will Not Enter the Ring Again Till May.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Tommy Ryan will not fight again until May. The welterweight champion of the world has a snug roll of $3000, $800 being his proportion of the stakes of Tuesday night's fight, $1200 more winnings, and $1000 presented to him by Patsy Fallon, of the event and had promised Ryan while in the ring that he would give him a fifth of his winnings if he sent him to prison.

In May Ryan will be prepared to meet Patsy Fallon, whom John L. Sullivan is anxious to pugilize. Ryan is a member of the Twin City Athletic club, has promised to put up a purse of $2500 for a meeting between Ryan and Kemmick and has been backed for a stake of $2500 a side. Ryan will not, hereafter, fight for anything less than $2500, in view of the magnitude of the prize money which he manifested Tuesday night, he is fully justified in holding himself at this figure.

Some of the spectators of Celtic birth who cheered so heartily for Ryan on the strength of his name, would probably be surprised to know that instead of being an Irishman he is a German Jew and that his proper surname is Raintz.

NECKTIE PARTY.

Wrathful Titlers of the Soil Overstep the Bounds of Law.

ADA, Minn., Feb. 21.—One hundred infuriated Norman county farmers got John Erickson into the Ada house yesterday afternoon and made all preparations to lynch him. The county and city officers numbered several times were powerless to resist. The trouble arose in this fashion. The Minnesota Mutual Live Stock Insurance company, of Fergus Falls, had sued about 150 farmers of this county for assessments alleged to be due. The farmers refused to pay and the suit was over here yesterday. A large number of the parties to the case coming into town to fight it. John Erickson, of Fergus Falls, secretary of the company and his lawyers, were also here. When the farmers saw Erickson they determined to scare him into a relinquishment of his claim. Erickson was seized by a mob of farmers and gave the holders of certificates a release of the claims against them.

INDIANA FLOODED.

Heavy Rain and Consequently Flooded Towns Near Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 21.—Indianapolis is in danger of being seriously damaged by high water. The rainfall the last three days has been the heaviest since 1884, and all small streams passing through and near the city are out of their beds. The water has spread over a large section of the northeastern portion of the city and hundreds of cellars are flooded. At Muncie for thirty hours rain has been falling, more or less steadily, at intervals in torrents, while the river here is now out of its banks and is rapidly rising. The entire factory district is covered with water.

FOR A MICHIGAN ORE ROAD.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 21.—Several parties here from Milwaukee, Mich., for the purpose of inducing a railroad to build to the mines in that section. Companies controlling twelve Minnesota range iron mines had gone into an agreement to build to the first railroad which would build into that district from some point on the Great Lakes. It is understood that there are about as many more whose output it is desired to secure before going ahead with the construction of the road.

NEBRASKA'S STATESMAN.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 21.—The house has passed a bill making two cents per mile the minimum passenger rate by all railroads in the state.

GEN. SHERMAN'S FUNERAL.

A Thrilling Scene at St. Louis This Morning.

FIGHTING SEVENTH FOR BEARERS.

A Military Pageant of Great Simplicity and Beauty Attended by Crowds.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 21.—The city is in mourning. Business is largely suspended and buildings are draped in habiliments of sorrow. Preparations for the funeral of Gen. Sherman have been in progress since yesterday and a train of carriages of special have been arriving filled with delegations of citizens and military organizations to participate in the service.

Among the prominent arrivals up to this morning were Hoyt Sherman Jr., of Omaha, nephew of the deceased; Col. W. F. Cody, who served under Sherman as scout on the North Platte; Col. Forsythe, from Fort Leavenworth; Ames Townsend, of Ohio and Governor Smith, of Leavenworth.

Early this morning delegations from Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Kansas, Iowa and G. A. R. posts from all parts of the United States began to arrive and the depot was crowded and the streets thronged with civilians and military. From Columbus, composed of the Fourteenth infantry and six companies of the Seventeenth. These were accompanied by the First regiment from Cincinnati and the governor's staff under command of the adjutant general.

The state legislature is here to attend the funeral. Brevet Maj. Gen. A. J. Smith, Brevet Maj. Gen. John W. Turner, Brevet Maj. Gen. William Warren, Brevet Maj. Gen. John W. Barringer, Commander Charles S. Cotton, United States navy, Citizens—Judge Samuel Treat, Col. George E. Leighton, Col. Charles Keane, Sylvester Connelly, R. Harrison, Isaac H. Sturgison, Thomas F. R. P. Taney.

The line of march lay from Union depot to Lucas square where the cortege formed, went on Pine street to Grand avenue, north on Grand to Florissant avenue and thence to the depot. The funeral procession started at 11 o'clock. The caisson was drawn by six bay horses, the riders were men who worked the Chickadees gun at the battle of Wounded Knee creek during the recent Indian campaign. They belonged to the Seventh cavalry. The caisson was "lighted Seventh." Their names are Private Mallory, Ryan and Kraus. The horses that were led behind the caisson, equipped with the general's saddle, bridle, boots and spurs, stood next the caisson.

In Memory of Sherman. At the military church this afternoon a large number of G. A. R. men and others assembled to hear the eulogy of the general. The service was brief and impressive.

MANY WOMEN MEET.

Six National Organizations are in Session in Washington Today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Six organizations of national importance, with an aggregate membership of over 500,000 women, will meet in this city tomorrow under a confederation known as the National Council of Women. The council, which previous to the consolidation was one of the largest organizations of women in America, is now composed of the following additional associations: The Winodanthea, Women's National Press association, Sorosis, National Woman Suffrage association, National Woman's Christian Temperance union and the Woman's Centenary Universalist association. Chicago, Illinois; Women's Press association, New York; Loyal Women of American Liberty, Rhode Island; Non-Partisan W. C. T. U.; Woman's Foreign Missionary Union of Friends, Philadelphia; and the Woman's Medical College of Johns Hopkins university.

This organization was brought into existence shortly after the international council of women which was held in this city in 1888 and is the outcome of that notable gathering. Its aim is to place the wisdom and expert experience of each woman at the service of all to widen the horizon of women, to correct any tendency to an exaggerated impression of their own work by enabling them to know the work of others; to increase the spirit of co-operation among women and by discussion and an interchange of thought to increase the sum total of womanly courage and efficiency.

The first meetings to be held Sunday, will be addressed by women of most able speakers, and with one exception each is the pastor of a large and flourishing church. Other women whose names appear on the program are Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Brown, Mrs. Ellen Dea, Mrs. Mary Leathrop, Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, Mrs. Nathan Meyer, Mrs. Mary Leese, Mrs. Zerelda Wallace, Mrs. Mary G. Burdick and others.

The program of the convention which is to last until Wednesday night, is to be composed of addresses and papers of special interest to women of education and socially, each to be followed by a discussion. It will probably be the largest gathering of women ever known in the United States.

AFTER MUCH TALK.

The Case Against Kohagen Decided Favorably to Him Today.

Judge Morris this morning discharged ex-Officer Kohagen on the charge of shooting Joseph Franklin. The public interest in this examination kept up until the end of the case, and the court room was crowded again this morning. The defense did not place on the stand but few of its witnesses, and consequently the examination came to an end sooner than was expected. Officer Kohagen was not placed upon the stand but will testify in the Ned Warner case if it is prosecuted and the other evidence will be used.

The judge stated in discharging the defendant that he was satisfied that the first shot fired came from the inside of the room and was not fired by any of the policemen.

James Dugan, John Brown and John Holm, brought in for stealing sand from Minnesota point, each pleaded guilty and paid $7 fine. Lars Liden was brought before the court for assaulting his wife. The examination will take place Feb. 22. Two vagrants George Law and Elmer Martin were sent to the county jail and George Prout was fined $5 for leaving his horses unattended.

A WEST COAST YARD.

The Ship for Vessels not so Pronounced as Was Thought.

Capt. Alex McDougall has returned to Duluth from the trip he took to the West coast looking up a site for a shipyard. It is not expected that a decision will be reached in several months, but along the line later afforded some relief. A long tent made of blankets, sheets and overcoats covers about half the line now and those under it are protected from the wind and snow. "Our idea has been to place the steel barges in the coal trade between the Sound and San Francisco. We thought that there would be some money in that. In fact looked as though it was a splendid thing. We have learned now however, that it is not such a good thing as it first appeared. The rate on coal from the Sound to San Francisco is about $2.50 a ton, although $2.75 was paid in a few cases. This seems like a high rate, especially when it is remembered that coal has been carried from Buffalo to Duluth for thirty cents a ton. But when a charter is made it is with the understanding that a vessel must lay at the dock perhaps twenty-five days in loading and unloading. The ship coming once from Australia and England for grain are the ones that kill the coal trade for the American boats. They come with coal for ballast. When there are lots of grain vessels there is plenty of coal, so the business is never regular. These foreign vessels unload their ballast at the rate of 100 tons a day. That would drive lake owners crazy and bankrupt them. There is, however, a great future for this country."

The local shipyard is to be enlarged and it is highly probable that before long one or two others besides that at the west coast, will be located. A. D. Thompson, director of the American Steel Bridge company, stated to the Herald today that he did not believe the question of the location of their plant on the Pacific coast would be decided upon before a year.

"The plant," said he, "will be a small one because the coast trade at present is not worth the expense of a large one. Even if we should secure a contract from the Northern Pacific road for trans-Pacific steamships I do not think that the Seventh cavalry would warrant the putting in of many ships to start with. The first vessel built will be for the coast trade in coal and other commodities between Puget sound and San Francisco. Of course the plant will go to the city which puts up the best for it. Personally I am in favor of Portland, Ore., or Seattle or Tacoma, but it is the bonus which will talk. I have always thought that the Western coast has been somewhat altogether too much. I would rather have a few lots in Duluth or Superior than a whole town on Puget sound."

Capt. McDougall, in an interview this morning on the annexation question, said: "If it is necessary to have West Duluth come into line on annexation, I think it could be brought about if the people moved in the right way. We had $100,000 for Duluth harbor two years ago, $50,000 of which was spent digging a channel to West Duluth. There was only about $50,000 left for Duluth harbor proper. There is now an appropriation of $100,000 available. I believe that it is intended to do the same thing again—give $50,000 towards a West Duluth channel and have about $50,000 for Duluth harbor proper. I think if some one would go to the United States court and enjoin the department from spending that money in interest of West Duluth, it would make the sentiment of annexation look more easy to some people who are opposed to it at present."

There has been a good deal of favorable comment on this view of the situation today and it is understood that the most radical non-annexationists, those who are not willing to come in at any time and who talk about West Duluth being the leader in a few years, are decidedly moderated.

ASHLAND LAND GRAB.

The Excitement Over the Opening of Lands Grows.

A GIRL IN SEVENTH PLACE.

All the Others Have to Stick it out Night and Day.

ASHLAND, Wis., Feb. 21.—The rush here for government lands recalls the scenes of Oklahoma. In the face of a blinding snow storm and with no shelter, the flares held their positions in line in front of the land office all yesterday, Friday night and today. The determination of those waiting borders on frenzy and any man who goes to sleep at his post now is in danger of losing his place, in fact very large numbers of men stand around to slip in line where others fall from sheer exhaustion.

Miss Hattie Nickels, who occupies the seventh place, is allowed to go to a hotel during the night. She is very plucky and the men are all courteous to her. They were all standing in a foot or more of snow yesterday, but dry goods boxes and straw and benches distributed along the line later afforded some relief. A long tent made of blankets, sheets and overcoats covers about half the line now and those under it are protected from the wind and snow. "Our idea has been to place the steel barges in the coal trade between the Sound and San Francisco. We thought that there would be some money in that. In fact looked as though it was a splendid thing. We have learned now however, that it is not such a good thing as it first appeared. CAN BURY A HOUSE.

Fifty Cans of Nitro-Glycerine Dig a Tremendous Grave.

FINDLAY, Ohio, Feb. 21.—About 1 o'clock this morning Catherine & Co.'s nitro-glycerine magazine, four miles from the city, exploded with a report that was heard fifty miles around. About 500 quarts of the explosive went up. It is believed that lives were lost. Lightning struck the nitro-glycerine magazine on the St. Stocker farm, thirty miles from this city, in which was stored fifty cans of the explosive. The shock was something tremendous and was distinctly felt in Lima, Fremont, Fostoria, Tiffin and all cities within a radius of fifty miles. The only thing left to indicate the location of the magazine is a hole in the ground big enough to bury a 3-story house.

DID NOT AVOID.

The Sacrifice of St. Bernard Commandery Was of No Avail.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—John O. Dickerson, the patient at the Emergency hospital, upon whom the unusual experiment of engraving 144 square inches of human cuticle was performed Sunday, Jan. 15 is dying. The self-sacrifice of 200 little Knights of St. Bernard Commandery, Knights Templar, each of whom contributed his mite of skin for the operation, and the skill of Dr. Fenger and his assistants have availed him nothing.

CHICAGO'S TEMPLE.

The Remarkable Progress Made by the Big Masonic Temple.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—One of the most remarkable feats in the building line is now being accomplished at the corner of Randolph and State streets in this city. Although it has only been five weeks since the work was begun on the Masonic Temple, the foundations are already completed, and before people realize it the columns will be extending up into the air. The hole in the ground has been covered with a wooden roof, and but few are aware that work is going on constantly, day and night, in the shifts of men, who work eight hours. Thus three days of work is done in one. This general belief is that the roof was built in order to keep the ground from freezing, so work could be begun early in the spring, but by that time the building will be up several stories.

There has been so carefully calculated that the contractors for the various branches of the work have accurate knowledge of the time they are to begin work. The materials have been ordered and a large portion of them is either in Chicago, on the road, or ready to be shipped. It is difficult to believe, but it will nevertheless be proved, that by Oct. 15 the sixteen-story building will be up to the roof and under construction. When the building is completed it will be such an excellent and magnificent structure that even those buildings which are prominent now because of their architectural beauty and the completeness of their appointments will appear commonplace. In a few months the building will have reached that point in its

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

Cash Wheat and Futures on the Duluth Market.

MONEY MARKETS IN THE EAST.

The market opened today with a firm feeling. First sales were made at 1/2c advance on the may future, and the option market ruled somewhat fluctuating in the afternoon owing to conflicting reports about the French crops. Some reports were to the effect that spring seedling would make up the loss by frost. Our wheat receipts for the week amount 145,000 bu. of which 35,000 went to the mills and the increase in the wheat stocks for Duluth will be about 110,000 bu. for the week.

The first trading of the season in June options took place today at 97 1/2c and 98c for the two grades. Only four cars of No. 1 northern wheat on track sold today at 98c, an advance of 1c over yesterday's figures. In the last half hour there was a let down in the market to yesterday's closing figures except in May No. 1 hard, which closed 1/2c below yesterday. The May option started at 95 1/2c for No. 1, dropped to 94 1/2c, selling in 20,000 bu. lots, recovered to 96 1/2c and dropped to 96 1/4c in the last half hour, closing at that figure. May No. 1 northern started at 95 1/2c and went up to 96c, selling in 20,000 bu. lots. It reached 96 1/2c but dropped to 95 1/2c, and in the last half hour went to 95 1/4c at the close. No trading was done in cash wheat in store.

The closing prices were as follows:

	Cash	Feb	May
No. 1 Hard	94 1/2	94 1/2	95 1/2
No. 1 Northern	95 1/2	95 1/2	96 1/2

Don't try to be behind the times and don't try to be too much ahead of them. You will be doing well to keep even with them, and this you will be doing if you invest in one of our Business or Dress Suits, all ready to put right on and wear. $15 to $30 isn't much to pay for one of our Fashionable Suits when you consider that the same if made to your order, would cost you more than twice as much.

Even if you could tell what the popular style would be a century hence, you would not dare to cross the Delaware today in a suit that will be fashionable in 2001. Don't try to be too much ahead of them. You will be doing well to keep even with them, and this you will be doing if you invest in one of our Business or Dress Suits, all ready to put right on and wear. $15 to $30 isn't much to pay for one of our Fashionable Suits when you consider that the same if made to your order, would cost you more than twice as much.

ASHLAND'S EXCITEMENT.

Rush at the Land Office This Morning is Fearful.

MANY MEN ARE CHLOROFORMED.

And Obligated to Fall Out; The Lands Entered on the Jump.

ASHLAND, Wis., Feb. 23.—The forfeited lands of the Wisconsin Central railroad were thrown on the market today. There was a tremendous rush of would-be settlers coming from all parts of the country. Dispatches from Iron river, where the most valuable of the lands are located, say that trouble, if not bloodshed, is feared, the advance settlers being apparently determined to make a vigorous fight for their prior rights. In response to the request of the land office, special forces of police are on duty to preserve order.

It was several weeks ago that the official notice was sent out from the land office, at this place, in regard to the date that the Wisconsin Central forfeited railroad lands should be opened for filing. When it did appear there was a great scrambling of land-seekers for Ashland. Notice was given that the lands designated were between Ashland and Superior, in the state of Wisconsin, and outside of the fifteen-mile limits of the grant for the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha company, upon both main and branch lines; that such land would be open for filing on the 23d of this month. It was further stated that all persons who, at the date of the passage of the act restoring the land, were in possession of the land, or had been in possession of it, within six months after the passage of the act. Notice was also given to prior applicants of such lands, that such prior applications conferred upon them no rights for such lands, and that upon the day that the lands should be open for filing it should be under the provisions of the forfeiture act, without regard to such applications. Only a few days ago the land office officials published another notice giving the fees for entering lands: 100 acres, $18.00; 120 acres, $16.00; 30 acres, $5.00; 40 acres, $7.00. It was the final signal for a grand rush of land seekers.

Land-seekers who have been out looking over the tract for several weeks, past have found them to be rich in pine. Every acre has been squatted on, and the contest between filers and squatters will be a bitter one. Three million feet of good pine is worth fighting over, and every claimant is determined to do everything in his power to secure a prize. Some of the land-seekers returned with reports that the land was also rich in ore deposits, the compass dipping as much as thirteen degrees in several instances.

This morning the crowd of land-seekers had increased and there was a great line. The cooling during the night was severely felt by the less hardy. Numerous offers of money were made for places, but there were no takers. Mail applications were given precedence at the land office today. It was 2 o'clock before the window was thrown open for filing. Albert Vincent, of Chippewa Falls, who had held first place since Wednesday night, filed first. Miss Hattie Kunkel, who had held second place ahead and filed fifth. A general fight occurred this morning when a crowd of toughs endeavored to work in at the front. The fire broke out by the police before anybody was seriously injured. Attempts to break in the land office were also frustrated by the police. Some of the men fainting in the line and were taken to the hospital about 10 o'clock.

Albert Daily, who had second place, was forced back to eighth and nearly suffocated. About 100 of the mail applicants were thrown out by the officials.

Fred Stevens who returned this morning from Ashland, says that last night thirty-one of the men in line before the government land office at Ashland were chloroformed. The squatters and they were pulled out from under the tents and left in the snow while other men have taken their places. Four men were taken to hospital and five or six arrests have been made. No one knows who did the chloroforming. Police protection has been asked for, as a report was circulated that a crowd of a couple of hundred were going to force the others out of line. Seven men now in the line went in at 10 o'clock, and their positions and not for the purpose of filing. One lady still occupies the seventh place. There is a great dissatisfaction because some are allowed to file by letter.

NEWSPAPER MEN SHOOT.

Columbus Sunday Journalists Do Some Fatal Shooting.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 23.—A horrible tragedy occurred on High street at 1:30 this afternoon in which twelve or fifteen shots were fired. It resulted from a slanderous newspaper article in the Sunday papers. W. J. Elliot of the Sunday Capital and A. C. Osborn of the Sunday World did the most of the shooting.

A bystander named Hughes was shot through the head and died almost instantly. Osborn was shot and is dying and E. J. Elliott, brother of W. J., was also hit.

The street was crowded with people and a panic ensued as the shot rang out.

Little Iowa Town Burned.
DUBUQUE, Iowa, Feb. 23.—East Elkfort, a village of 400 inhabitants in Clayton county, was swept by a fire last night yesterday. The fire broke out at noon in Schrupp's general store which was burned to the ground, together with the postoffice, German hotel, Flaherty's two other store buildings and three dwellings. The total loss is $20,000.

Sailing Vessel Wrecked.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—Seventeen sailors and the captain of the American ship Elizabeth, were drowned Saturday night while entering the harbor. The vessel had a crew of twenty and the captain's wife and two children. Three sailors and the woman and children were rescued. The Elizabeth carried a cargo of merchandise from New York.

ANOTHER MINE.

A Fearful Fire Damp Explosion: Aid Asked by the Town.

SPRING HILL, N. S., Feb. 23.—The work of rescue of the entombed miners goes bravely on. A brattice has been put in and the black damp is now nearly removed. The air is so well purified that rescuers can work with comparative safety, and were it not for the occasional fall of lumps of coal from the roof the work could be carried on much more rapidly.

Nothing is yet known as to the cause of the explosion and perhaps the mystery may never be solved. After body has been removed, some of which are horribly mangled and others are as natural and life-like as if they had just fallen asleep. Scarcely a minute elapses that they can only be recognized by their clothing and others are even past identification.

A temporary morgue has been improvised and now contains over 80 bodies. The names so far have been taken from the mine and the bodies are being kept in the mine until the work of identification; it only helps to estimate the number of missing and the dead.

When the explosion occurred nearly 1000 men were in the mine, but most of them succeeded in making good their escape, thanks to the absence of fire. But the terrible blackdamp has done its work and the number of deaths is placed at 117. The response for assistance was liberal, neighboring towns sending several surgeons and a large number of citizens who set to work with a will and relieved the panic and grief stricken friends of the bereaved.

The scene of the explosion was in the vicinity of No. 6 and 7 slopes. The greatest number of deaths occurred there, and the air is still very foul. It is probable that all within the mine are dead as this cave from roofs and walls has been very great, so that nothing of the direct force of the explosion and the aftermath.

At least ninety-four bodies had been recovered, and the total number of dead was still thought to be 117. Many ghastly scenes were to be seen on the surface and the bodies of the dead were brought to the surface in bags and brought to the surface in bags and brought to the surface in bags.

The explosion is more disastrous than any in the history of this continent. The number of lives lost at the Ford Pitt explosion was 100 at the beginning of the year, is unable to meet the claims that will be made upon it.

The mayor and town council and clergymen decided to issue an appeal for aid to the public.

A BETTER ERA.

The Visit of Germany's Empress Makes Pleasure in France.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The Empress Frederick has returned to various expedients, an exit opening upon the street at the back of the buildings to shake off of the newspaper men. At a late concert a greater number of the empress and her daughter did not put in an appearance. Two Germans however sang Mozart and Wagner duets in the garden of the Tuileries and drove in their cars to the Bois de Boulogne, where respectful greetings. During the day many persons called to pay their respects to her. Among them were M. de Bismarck, the German ambassador, Gen. Brugere, chief of the military household of President Carnot, and a large number of French diplomatic representatives. She has arranged to stay in Paris one week.

Faneuil Hall a Henney.

NEWBRIDGE, Conn., Feb. 23.—The famous only registry in the state of Connecticut, which was erected in 1761, was sold by auction today to a Wauwacott Hill farmer, for $20. The old Court House has been called the Faneuil Hall of Connecticut, since within its walls was heard the first public protest against the British flag, and it was here that the Sons of the Revolution of this town wanted to buy the relic and locate it on the historic green, repair and adorn it and use it for a town hall, museum and library, but the dwellers in that quarter hereby opposed the project and the relic is now in the hands of the British.

A PROFITLESS SESSION.

What is to be Done in the Last Week of Congress.

PENSION BILLS RUSHING ALONG.

While Important Necessary Measures are Delayed for Partisan Disputes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—As the present session draws to a close the tendency to rush legislation, as usual, becomes epidemic. Not since the first term of Cleveland has the mass of pension bills been so numerous, and it is safe to wager that a similar stampede may never be seen again. Over 100 pension bills have been passed in the senate in forty-five minutes, among them was one increasing the pension of Brig. Gen. Landrum of Kentucky to $50.

The close of the present congress is estimated that there will be at least 1300 bills on the calendar of the house which have been favorably reported by the committee, but which will fall for want of time for their consideration.

In this mass of unfinished legislation there are a number of bills which represent most urgent needs of the country at large. As the final appropriation bills will probably require the quietest custom of turning back the hands of the clock to be technically legal, it is impossible that much general legislation of importance can be considered during the closing hours of this congress.

There is now pending in congress a bill which proposes to amend the constitution, substituting Dec. 31 for March 4 as the commencement and termination of the official term of members of both houses of congress. This bill also provides that congress shall meet annually on the first Monday in January, and that the session shall close on the first Monday of April 30 for March 4 as the date for the commencement and termination of the terms of the president and vice president.

Under ordinary circumstances congress has ample time to undertake the legislative business of the country without lengthening the present term. The fault lies in the subordination of public business to the fierce conflicts of partisanship.

"TOM" LOWRY, OF MINNESOTA.

How He'd Run Things If He Received the Presidency.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—A Minneapolis man furnishes the Star the following amusing sketch of Tom Lowry, of Minnesota, whose name has lately been suggested in certain quarters as a possible candidate for the presidency. "Lowry," he says, "is a great man and a clever financier. He went to Minneapolis less than twenty years ago with $15, a most engaging smile, and some knowledge of the law. His $15 have multiplied until there are at least $1,000,000, and his smile is still as pearly as when he first came to the city. He is a thorough hustler and a reformer of no mean force. He is appointed secretary of the treasury, and would, in less than ninety days, move the entire department to the corner of Hennepin and Washington avenues in Minneapolis, where he owns a building called Temple Court. He would do this so rapidly that the President would have a chance to secure restraining order from any of the courts.

"As I said, the department would be located in Minneapolis, but he wouldn't live there. Secretary Lowry would issue an order compelling them to live in St. Paul. Why? Because the city of St. Paul is a more desirable place to live in than Minneapolis, and he would like to see his financial advantage, the Twin City Electric railroad, which runs from St. Paul to Minneapolis, and of course every one of the clerks and messengers and watchmen and charwomen would have to drop two miles in the Lowry slot every week.

He would cur his taste for art to such an extent as to destroy a few of those caricatures labelled 'the artist' and of ex-secretaries of the treasury, and which are hung up in the more public departmental offices for the purpose of instructing the public what they may come to if they only stay in the service long enough. He is the most charitable man, as far as I know, and he would only let him be would disburse the biggest surplus ever heard of. The poor would have cause to be glad.

"He would not let the war veterans be? Couldn't even guess as to the kind of an administration he would put up. He'd be a dollar that he'd put up his head until he could duck his head under it. That's a contortistic way he has of behaving when he has cause to be nervous. He is a man of a trifling undignified, but I've seen him do it."

No Record for New York.

KYLE'S STATUS.

How He Stands on Legislation, State and National.

YANKEETOWN, N. D., Feb. 23.—United States Senator Elliot Kyle, in an interview here stated that he had made no pledge to the democrats for their votes which elected him, other than to labor for a low tariff, and this was in accord with his previous views. He said he has always been a republican, but is now perfectly independent and will support the farmers alliance platform; he is also a staunch prohibitionist, and opposed to the passage of the reorganization bill now pending. He believes in the free coinage of American silver only.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the two-story street wall of the Fifth Avenue theater fell with a fearful crash to the ground. LADY MANAGERS.

Prospective Executive Board to be Appointed: Fresh Water Exhibit.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—The executive committee of the board of lady managers, will soon be selected by Mrs. Potter Palmer. The standing committee, with Mrs. Palmer and Miss Phoebe Cousins and certain other ladies prominent in World's fair work, will constitute this important body, which will consist of twenty-four members. The standing committee will be appointed as strong candidates for this committee: Mrs. Isabelle Beecher Hooker, Mrs. Virginia C. Merrieth, Mrs. John A. Logan, Mrs. Lily R. Toole, Mrs. William H. Felton, Mrs. Mary Lockwood, Mrs. Sarah Angell, Miss Mary McCandless, Mrs. James R. Dean, Mrs. Ralph Trautman, Mrs. John S. Wise, Mrs. H. F. Brown, Mrs. Rosina Ryan, Mrs. Frances Wells Sheperd and Miss Josephine Shakespeare.

Mrs. A. C. Meyers, an alternate lady manager of the world's fair, received a hearty welcome and a cordial promise of help from the lake captains of the Excelsior Benevolent association, who met last night.

Mrs. Meyers is the widow of Capt. Victor Meyers, who was a prominent lake sailor and vessel-owner. She is visiting the states on her way to the fair for the purpose of swelling the $20,000 she has asked from the national senate to $50,000. Her plan embraces practical ship-building as an exhibit and a complete series in miniature but working shape of every form of lake craft that ever floated, from the Indian's canoe to 1,500-ton propeller.

IT WAS LIKE KOCH'S LYPH.

A Clergyman Cured of Consumption by a New Remedy.

LAUREL, Del., Feb. 23.—One of the happiest men in this state is the Rev. J. W. Kirk, pastor of the Methodist church at this place. Last summer he became ill and was sent to Philadelphia for treatment. The specialists to whom he went pronounced his case consumption and ordered him to go to the Adirondack mountains. After two months in the mountains he was told that his only chance for life was in the mountains of Colorado. He returned home to die with his flock.

Meantime the president of the conference requested all Christians of the Methodist denomination to pray for the stricken pastor. He continued to grow worse until a month ago, when he went to Baltimore to try the Koch treatment. The medical authorities at the Church Home hospital feared that he was too far gone for the Koch treatment, and tried a milder remedy similar to the lymph. It was injected just like the lymph. Mr. Kirk refuses to talk about the treatment by order of the professor, who claims that the treatment is being used in Germany in connection with Koch's discovery. There seems to be no doubt of the fact that the minister is cured.

PRESBYTERIAN CHANGES.

Two New Chapters Added to the Belief of the Church.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 23.—W. L. Moore, president of the presbyterian general assembly's committee on revision, which held its second session at Washington Feb. 4 to 16, furnishes the following to the Associated Press:

The general desires expressed by the presbyteries of the United States in their answer to the overtures was "for more explicit statement of the love of God for the world" "for a sufficient statement" etc. The committee sought to meet these desires by the preparation of two new chapters, one for the work of the church, and the other for the work of the individual, to follow chapter vii of "Christ the mediator;" the other "universal offer of the gospel" to follow chapter ix of "free will." These chapters make many of the prominent changes asked for in the other chapters entirely unnecessary so they are left unaltered.

SCARE AT NEW YORK.

Many Persons on the East Side Exposed to Smallpox.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—An unknown number of persons in this city during the last few days have been exposed to the contagion of smallpox through two Arab peddlers who have been going about the city on the streets and in the elevated railway trains while suffering from the disease.

The Arabs are named Najeeb Maloff and Aft Barick. The latter went to the reception hospital in East Sixteenth street on Thursday afternoon, riding in a Second Avenue elevated train. He was covered with pustules at the time and the car was crowded. The exposed occupants of the car may carry the contagion to many east side dwellings. Dr. Edson was apprised of this case by a telegram signed by Dr. Williams. The two senior florists, who removed to North Brother island, and vaccinators were sent to the lodging houses and vaccinated seventy inmates.

A Family Drowned.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 23.—A heavy snow followed by rain caused the overflowing of the Missouri at this point and five lives were lost. Frederick Warner, a German fisherman lived on the bank of the river with his wife and three children. Saturday night the house was undermined, and thrown into the river. The cries of the people roused the neighbors who were too late to be of any assistance. The bodies of Mrs. Warner and two children were recovered but Mr. Warner and the youngest child were not found and it is supposed they were swept farther down the stream.

Puck's Dying Request.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Tomorrow Staten Island Schutzen corps, unless the authorities interfere, will take the train containing the ashes of Henry Meyer, late proprietor of the Puck hotel at Fort Richmond to the top of the statue of liberty, where a portion of the ashes will be scattered to the wind in accordance with the wish of the deceased. As the ashes are scattered the final words of the conductor of the ceremony will be, "Here goes the last of Puck Meyer's happy days."

T. P. O'CONNOR COMING.

The Irish Leader Gives Duluth a Visit After All.

HIS VISIT A GENUINE SURPRISE.

No Program Arranged for His Stay of a Short Time Here.

T. P. O'Connor will arrive tonight on the limited train from St. Paul at 7:15. No program has been arranged yet for his entertainment as no one knew of his coming until C. P. Maginnis received a telegram late this afternoon to the effect that he would be in Duluth tonight. It is probable, however, that he will speak here once or twice before his departure. He may speak tonight at the Catholic association hall at the Washington birthday celebration. He will spend a short time here and leave to go direct to New York, with a few hours' stay in Chicago. On March 4 he sails on the North German Lloyd steamer Spree for Southampton, Eng. Mr. O'Connor has traveled extensively over the Western states, especially Washington, and was paying Marcus Daly a visit at Butte, Mont., when he received a letter from the executive committee of the National League of Great Britain, asking him to return to England as soon as possible to preside at the approaching convention of the organization.

BENNINGTON'S TRIAL.

Alterations in the Vessel Since the Serpent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The official steam trial of the new third class cruiser Bennington will take place on Tuesday. This vessel, like her sister ships the Yorktown and Concord, is modelled upon the Archer class of the British navy, to which the Bennington belonged. The vessel recently lost on the coast of Spain. But since the latter vessel was lost, several alterations have been made in the Bennington. It was found that the Yorktown would take on a good deal of water, and long in getting in and out of rough weather. A board of officers in October last considered what changes ought to be made, and the recommendations were carried out.

The test to which the Bennington will be subjected is an extremely severe one. The machinery must develop 3400 horsepower as the mean for a four hours' run. It is provided that if the maximum be exceeded and successfully maintained for such period, the contractors shall be entitled to receive an additional compensation over and above the contract price of $400,000, $100 for each indicated horse-power above the requirement; but if the collective indicated horse-power should fall below the maximum the sum of $100 for each unit or horse-power deficit shall be charged against the contractors. If she should fail to develop as much as 3000 horse-power the vessel will not be accepted; but the Concord exceeded the requirements and earned a premium for the builders.

THE SCHLESINGER PROPERTIES.

Who the New Owners are and What the Late Sale Means.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 23.—Speculations are still rife as to the identity of the purchasers of the Escanaba, Iron Mountain & Western railroad, or the "Schlesinger road" with its valuable adjunct, a large interest in the Chapin mine. Fred Schlesinger confirms the sale to officials of the mine here, but they will say nothing, or perhaps in the absence of full information, prefer to keep the public in the dark until Schlesinger returns from the West.

It is generally understood that the new owners are certain stockholders of the Chicago & Northwestern, if not the road itself, and the construction is placed at about $3,000,000. The sale was made to an agent who acts for various parties, among them Vanderbilts, and it is presumed that through the Vanderbilts the properties were bought for the Northwestern road.

Other than the building of the new line and docks has entailed an expense of over $1,000,000. They were designed for use in transporting the product of the mines to the lake.

The Chapin mine is the most extensive mining property of the Menominee range. Its production in 1890 was 34,536 tons of ore, from which the annual output has gradually increased until in 1890 it reached 72,343 tons, the total output aggregating 523,343 tons.

LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS.

Counties That are to be With
St. Louis for Ten Years.

A TOTAL OF 193,000 PEOPLE IN ALL.

Hennepin is Alone While Ramsey
Has a Few Counties
With It.

It has been learned from very reliable inside sources that the legislative committee of the house, in charge of redistricting the state, has about settled on what shall constitute the three districts of the state which are of greatest concern to Duluth.

The Duluth district will include St. Louis, population 44,802; Lake, 1200; Cook, 98; Carlton, 5272; Aitkin, 2022; Miller, 2843; Kanabec, 1579; Benton, 6254; Sherburne, 3068; Anoka, 1884; Stearns, 34,541; Wright, 24,154; Meeker, 15,455; and McLeod, 18,240; and Ramsey, population 130,235; Washington, 22,992; Pine, 4022; Chisago, 10,339; and Lincoln, 7671, will constitute another district with a population of 184,246.

The southern and southeastern part of the state will be another, while all the western part of the present Duluth district as well as a good deal of the west central part will make the three others. The average population for each of the seven districts under the census will be about 185,000 people, giving the Duluth district, as above, about 140,000 people, an excess of 7000 people, while St. Paul's district, which would naturally include some of the counties named for Duluth, has a slight deficit of 1400.

A glance at the map shows what a peculiar shape the legislature have fixed in for the Duluth district. It lies along the lake and meanders down towards the center of the state in a vague and ambiguous sort of a way that suggests McKinley's gerrymandered district in Ohio. It sandwiches between the Ramsey district and that further west in an utterly meaningless style.

The counties attached like the tail of a kite to St. Louis and Lake are attached in no particular way to any community interest, while Duluth is interested deeply in the counties west and northwest, which are in a separate district. These counties of Itasca, Cass, Beltrami, Polk and northern tier should of right be joined to Duluth both because of identification of Duluth, agricultural, iron and lumber industries.

KEEP GOOD MEN,
And Let the Poor Ones go for Another Job.

The plasterers employed at the Lyceum theater have struck for $4 a day of nine hours instead of forty cents an hour. At the meeting of the Labor assembly yesterday afternoon the assistance of the assembly was voted the plasterers.

The basis of settlement was satisfactory. When the plasterers were hired they were promised $4 per day. They understood a day to be nine hours, while their employers reckoned ten hours as a day's work. When the plasterers talked over a compromise was agreed upon. The foreman agreed to pay $4 for nine hours work, provided that he would be allowed to discharge some of the men whom he did not believe were up to the standard of excellence in the workmanship required. Some of the men have been laid off.

The weather.

"It was an astonishing thing," said Weather Sergeant Fallon as he shivered off the snow from his front walk this morning. "it was astonishing how the weather changed yesterday afternoon. It was 30° below at Moorhead and between 20° and 35° below all through the Northwest, and we should have had it here last night and today. But it turned warm, and just look at this snow. The cold wave did us just the way it should. It struck off down the western valley and reached the sufferers at St. Paul and La Crosse and those parts. The values of the Red River and Mississippi rivers are great things for Duluth."

In Lower Court.
At the municipal court this morning, Dock Survein and Mattie Brown each paid a fine of $7 on complaint of Officer Smollett. Richard Danmore arrested some time ago for passing a forged check on J. The county offices were closed today in honor of Washington's birthday. The banks also worked in a holiday, as did a few offices about the city. General business was not stopped. Flaga were floating at a number of streets about town, mostly those of the elevators, but others were there was little notice of the fact that today was 150 years and one day after the birth of the great George.

A New England Girl.
[From the Illustrated American.]

One very charming girl, the daughter of a prosperous physician, shows an excellent example of the instincts and ambitions of the modern New England girl.

She had passed her college career honorably, and had studied pretty well, but only an idle, worthless life seemed before her; so, under the excuse that some day she might meet her own life, she went to Boston, and in partnership with a friend and college graduate, determined to take a profession.

For a year she traveled in Europe, studying constantly, and came home to set up a school where girls and young women could equip themselves for college. She did not pretend to give a primary education, but she offered instruction to women who had not received the advantages of thorough teaching, and gave them the opportunity to read up on neglected branches.

Her tour in Europe was taken with a view of conquering women as to how best to travel abroad and what points of real interest to visit. She also made a list of books which would aid them to appreciate the Old World, its history, ruins and romances.

In addition to her flourishing school, this quiet young lady finds time to devote not only a portion of her income, but much thought and personal care also, to one of the noblest charities opened by her New England sisters—the college settlement. Not for fame, for praise, nor to any extent for financial profit does she so ardently labor, but because her mental energy and her generosity will not permit her to rest with folded hands through life's longest and best years.

"There is one common ground between the English Rugby Union and the American," says Walter Camp, the veteran Yale foot ball player, in "Outing for February," and this is the amateur status of the sport. Both are going to be menaced by professionalism in the near future. The English Association game is already given over to professionalism, but Rugby can be saved. The English Rugby player already appreciates the danger but the American does not."

THE WOMANS COUNCIL.

Sessions of That Body Opened at the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The sessions of the first triennial conference of the Women's Council of the United States opened this morning in Alhambra's Opera house. The council informally opened yesterday, but the proceedings were entirely of a religious character, sermons being delivered by women preachers from Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Washington and Massachusetts.

Today's session opened under the auspices of the department of charities and philanthropies. It was presided over by Miss Frances E. Willard, of Illinois, president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union, whose inaugural address was devoted to a consideration of the question of "State Control and Social Care of Dependent Classes," together with women's share in the work. The address, which dealt thoroughly with the subject, was listened to with considerable interest, and at its conclusion the noted orator received an ovation.

Addressing the council was followed by Miss Anna Garlin Spencer, of Providence, R. I., who spoke upon "The Need of Women in Public Institutions," and Dr. Rose Wright, Bryan of New York city, while "The Care of Defective Children" was dealt with by Mrs. Fannie B. Ames, of Boston.

The session this afternoon is being devoted to a consideration of "The Work and Position of Women in Churches." This was divided into several departments, noted women in several branches of church work being assigned to discuss the various questions entering into the subject of the paper.

"Woman's Status in the Church" was the subject of a paper read by Rev. Myra Frances Tupper, of New York city, while Miss Jane M. Bancroft, of Cincinnati, discussed "The Position of Women in the Methodist Church." Miss Emily S. Sherwood, of Annapolis, D. C., spoke upon "Modern Charities and Church Work."

A general program proper was followed by a general discussion which was participated in by Miss Mary Burdette of the Baptist Home Missionary society, Mrs. F. C. Crooke of the same organization, Mrs. C. H. Taitton, of the Illinois Women's Home Missionary union; Mrs. M. M. White, of the Evangelical Reformed church, and other speakers.

This evening the topic of "The Christian League, its Objects and Aims," will be considered by Mrs. E. B. Grannis, of New York city, while Mrs. Lucy B. Longstrech, the veteran worker in religious and social reform, in Philadelphia, will speak upon "What Has Been Accomplished in the Foreign Mission of the Christian League." Mrs. H. J. Johnson, also of Philadelphia, will report upon the work of the Union Women's Missionary society. Tomorrow will be temperance day, and the principal orator will be delivered by Mrs. Mary Hunt, of Chicago.

PATRIOTIC UNION LEAGUE.
It Appropriately Celebrates the Birthday of George Washington.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—The celebration in honor of Washington's birthday are being continued today. The most important will be held at the Auditorium under the auspices of the Union League.

Three years ago the Union League determined to celebrate the event by patriotic demonstrations. The orator on the first occasion was James Russell Lowell, the second, Charles M. Depew, and the third, W. C. C. Tiffany, of Minneapolis. This afternoon Hon. W. C. C. Breckinridge, who ranks among the foremost of the nation's statesmen, will be the central figure of the occasion. After his oration he will be banqueted in the Union League club house.

Shot his Sister.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—Frank Holland fatally shot his sister Laura yesterday morning just before daylight while she was returning home from a walk.

Holland has been arrested and released on bail.

Changes of Climate.
Kill more people than is generally known. Particularly is this the case in winter, when the constitution is delicate, and among our immigrant population seeking new homes in those portions of the West, and where the cold and dry weather prevails at certain seasons of the year. The best preventative for a change of climate, or of diet and water which change the system, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only fortifies the system against malarial, variable temperatures, but also cures the effects of tropical heat, but is also the leading remedy for constipation, dyspepsia, liver complaint, biliousness, and all the ailments which plague travelers and visitors to regions near the equator, mariners and tourists. Whether used as a safeguard or as a cure, it reaches more readers than any other Duluth paper.

WORLD OF COMMERCE

Cash Wheat and Future on the Duluth Market.

MONEY MARKETS IN THE EAST.

The market opened very weak today at a decline from Saturday. May wheat sold within half an hour of the opening at 1 1/2c decline from Saturday's price. The market ruled dull but advanced. The visible report showed an increase for wheat of 65,000 bu, an increase in corn of 77,000 bu, and a decrease in oats of 10,000 bu. This acted as a bearish feature in wheat because a small deficiency was expected. For the corresponding week last year there was a deficiency of 433,000 bu. The bullish news received later to the effect that there had been a sharp upturn in French wheat, that there were excellent sales of milling wheat in Milwaukee and St. Louis, and that steel and rain prevailed in the winter wheat regions together with prognostications of colder weather here forced prices up.

May wheat opened at 98c, with sale on No. 1 hard advanced and sold in 20,000 bu lots at 93 1/2c and closed at 92c sellers. May No. 1 northern opened late at 95c, advanced to 96 1/2c selling in large lots, advanced and sold at 95 1/2c and closed strong at the same figure with bids. Cash wheat on track sold late in the forenoon session at 93 1/2c for No. 1 northern, 1/2c below Saturday's figure. No trading was done either in cash wheat in store or February wheat.

The closing prices were as follows:

No. 1 hard	Cash	Feb.	May
No. 1 Northern	91	94	99
No. 2 Northern	90 1/2	93 1/2	98 1/2

Corn on track: Wheat, 100; last year, 65. Receipts: Wheat, 45,650 bu. Shipments, none. Inspection: Corn No. 1 hard, 19; No. 1 northern, 33; No. 2 northern, 19; oats, 1; total, 92.

Skeletons Chained Together.

Leon S. Gordon, who has just returned to Kansas City from a trip in New Mexico, where he has been engaged in constructing a telegraph line from Las Vegas to Silver City, relates a strange story of a discovery made by his gang of men as they were working through the country.

For miles they would work without seeing a human being, and the houses were principally old ruins which had long been abandoned. It was the custom of the men to utilize these ruins for temporary camping quarters, and it was while thus occupying a house that the discovery was made that was at once startling and romantic. The party camped at a place called by the Mexicans Los Ojos de la Muerte, or the Springs of Death. The springs were of pure water, but the place was so named from the fact that several murders had been committed at the house.

One Sunday while the men were resting after their week's work, two of the men began an examination of the place, and in their rambles became imbued with the idea that there was a concealed room in the building. The walls were sounded, and at last they came to a place where they thought a different sound was given out, and they began to work a hole through. They found that their surmises were correct, and soon had an opening into a room. They produced light and entered. Lying on the floor they found two skeletons, the bones of the wrist encircled with iron bands, which were riveted on and connected with chains, showing that the unfortunate had been chained together and left to die a lingering death.

From the appearance of the skeletons it was readily perceived that they were those of a man and woman. Inquiry was made in the neighborhood, but for a long time nothing could be learned that would solve the mystery. One day an old Mexican came to the house, and on being told of the discovery, said that it explained the disappearance of the wife of the man who owned the place. It was generally supposed through the country that she had eloped with a young American, with whom she had been unduly intimate.

Perhaps you think it is a comparatively easy thing to produce a suit of clothes that will be attractive to everybody. Nothing could be further from the truth. Since the world began there were never two exactly alike, and there is just as much difference in tastes as there is in noses. The successful clothier constantly has his fingers on the pulse of popular taste. It is his business to discover in what direction the tide of popular preference is flowing. Then and then only can he hope to be in a position to offer something that is certain to attract all hands. Of course, in making up our spring stock we could not have the pleasure of consulting you personally, but you will admit that we have been successful in anticipating your desire if you will call and look at our immense NEW LINE of Tailor-made Spring and Summer Goods, which are beginning to arrive daily, including our SPRING OVERCOATS, BUSINESS and DRESS SUITS, TROUSERS, Boys' and Children's Suits, Pants and Hosiery, which are the work of our tailors' skill and art. THE CITY WINS AGAIN.

Senator Daugherty Knocks Out the Gas and Water Co.

WHICH WAS THOUGHT TOO FRESH.

Many Measures of Local Interest Passed in the State Capitol Today.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 25.—Senator Daugherty was up in arms today, continuing his fight, and he scored another point for Duluth. As was stated the house file amending the Duluth city charter passed yesterday morning. Senator Sanborn tried to recall the bill for the benefit of the Duluth water company, and this morning made quite a fight but was defeated by Daugherty and his friends and Sanborn was set on.

The senate generally thought it showed a consummate gall for the gas and water company to attempt to have the bill changed in the senate after it had made no kick on it at Duluth and had not seen any public officials regarding it. It is understood that the change wanted was in the clause limiting the amount of money the city could pay for the plant and also the manner of purchase and powers of the city officials over the water company in the matter of highways, etc.

It will hereafter be recognized as a city, for the bill to that effect passed today, also giving the right to establish a municipal court. The Kendall bill relating to the compensation of the sheriff of St. Louis county also passed.

Under suspension of the rules the senate passed a house bill detaching Lake county from St. Louis county for judicial purposes and organizing Lake county for the same purpose. Cook will go with Lake. Senator Allen succeeded this morning in restoring the bill detaching Itasca from Aitkin county, retaining the sheriff, to the original form. The house downed the prohibition bill this afternoon.

FULL OF GALL.

Gas and Water Company Attempts to Stop the Charter Amendments.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 25.—In the state senate late yesterday afternoon, a resolution was offered by Senator Sanborn, of St. Paul, to recall the already passed amended Duluth city charter. Sanborn stated that the gas and water company had asked him to have it recalled, as there were some features in it which they wished to have modified. The amendment had come to Daugherty and Kendall some time ago when the bill was in their hands and asked to have the changes made. They were in both cases referred to City Attorney Allen, but never went to see him. They went to Daugherty again yesterday and wanted him to recall the bill, but he refused to do so saying if Duluth wants any change they could be made by another bill. They told him if he didn't recall it Sanborn would. Daugherty declared there was something rotten in the matter and he hoped the senate would not act as attorneys for any corporation.

KITTEL GETS THERE.

Our Own Halvorsen Will Be the Only Man Time.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 25.—Misfortune appears to overhang the quartet of new congressmen. They were here yesterday for Washington last night, but Kittel Halvorsen is the only one who will reach his destination on time. W. H. Harrison is detained by the death of his little daughter. O. M. Hall has been called to Ohio by the sudden and dangerous illness of his mother. Capt. Castle is with Mr. Halvorsen last tonight, but the former must first get to New York, where Mrs. Castle is lying very ill.

INVESTIGATING THE FIGHT.

Coroner's Inquest Fixes the Blame for the Shooting.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 25.—The coroner began a post mortem examination upon the bodies of Osborne and Hughes yesterday. It was shown that the bullet Osborne received in the head was from the revolver used by W. J. Elliott and the one through his lungs from the revolver of his brother Patrick. It was also shown that the bullet which killed Mr. Hughes was from W. J. Elliott's revolver. The majority of the witnesses agreed upon the statement that Patsy J. Elliott killed Osborne in McDonald's bar store and that Hughes was struck by a stray ball from W. J. Elliott's revolver. Nearly all the witnesses swore that W. J. Elliott began the fusillade by firing upon Osborne, who stood with his hands in his pockets less than ten feet away.

TREASURE HUNTERS.

Shot While Searching for Money Scattered From Bushwhackers.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 25.—Last night Henry Long, awakened by a noise in his yard, slipped out with a gun, and seeing three men acting in a suspicious manner in his orchard, opened fire upon them. The shot was answered by a cry of agony, and the invaders hurried off, carrying one of the party along.

Yesterday morning on going to the place Long found a pool of blood and saw that the victims had been digging holes as if searching for hidden treasures. The farm is on the site of the bushwhacking war which raged in this part of the country during the rebellion, and it is supposed that money has been buried hereabouts.

Reconnaissance Possible.

PIERRE, S. D., Feb. 25.—Reconnaissance is the order of the day for the Seminoles today. Both sides claim the victory by a small majority. The outlook is that it will be carried. Being an amendment of the constitution it will not be necessary for the bill to be signed by the governor, and in the event of a favorable vote today it will go to the people without further action. United States Senator Kyle has started East.

A Large Deal in Saw Lumber.

WASHTA, Wis., Feb. 25.—The Brown-Chapin Lumber company of this city has purchased the stock of the Diamond Match company, at Ontonagon, Mich. It consists of 30,000,000 feet of lumber, 30,000,000 shingles and 10,000,000 lath. This is one of the largest lumber deals made in some time.

POLITICAL REMINISCENCES.

Death of Edmund Juszen Recalls Some Official Incidents.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The announcement of the death last week at Frankfurt, Germany, of Edmund Juszen, formerly of this city, and at one time consul general at Berlin, recalls the fact that Juszen was the original cause of the severance of amicable relations which existed for many years between General Grant and Carl Schurz, and which resulted in the latter bringing his batteries to bear upon his former friend toward the end of his closing administration. Juszen was a distant relative of Schurz's, and away back in the early seventies occupied the position of revenue agent in Chicago. As part of his duties he was required to affix his signature to the certificate attached to every barrel of whisky that passed through the local revenue office. Those were the days when the rubber stamp first made its appearance and Juszen, who believed in labor saving appliances, concluded that he might just as well get a stamp to plaster his name over the certificates as to go to the labor of using pen and ink. The very first essay of the line, however, proved disastrous for the revenue officials at Pittsburgh confiscated no less than 100 barrels of Kentucky rye that bore the counterfeit presentation of the famous man's signature on the ground that the law had not been complied with.

The conspiracy of itself in a hole hurried to Washington only to find himself relieved from duty after his explanation had been made. The plausibility and eloquence of Carl Schurz could not serve Gen. Grant from his position and Juszen had to go. For the rest of his life after this event Gen. Grant had to contend against the repeatedly manifested evidences of Carl Schurz's animosity, if not hatred, which continued almost to the week of his death.

EXODUS FROM ILLINOIS.

Induced to Leave for Cheap Lands in Other States.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 25.—The largest exodus from Central Illinois in its history, perhaps, occurred yesterday. About 150 people, comprising twenty-five families, left McLean county on three trains of thirty-three cars, taking with them their personal belongings, implements and live stock. Two trains go to Webster City, Iowa, and the other is bound for Nebraska.

THE OIL COMPROMISE.

The oil companies compromise the best citizens of the country. They are induced to leave because of the cheap lands of the west, although many sold their farms.

HAD HIS MEASUREMENT.

An Angel Travelling Man Found Dead in His Room at New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—James Owens, a travelling salesman 60 years old, was found dead in his room in the Coleman House today, and his death was supposed to have been caused by apoplexy. Two days ago he showed to the hotel clerk a card on which was written his name and address and his measurement for a coffin. Owens lived with his family at No. 715 Franklin street, Milwaukee, and he was an agent in that city and in the city of Chicago for Oberg and Bros., cigar manufacturers of this city. His body was removed to an undertaker's shop, where a coroner will make an autopsy tomorrow.

AL JOHNSON TALKS.

Doesn't Seem to Be Especially Appalled by Possible Legislation.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 25.—Al Johnson arrived here today from New York. He does not seem to be particularly put out regarding the possible collapse of the American Association. He says he proposes to retain his controlling interest in the Cincinnati club and the whole claims are to go into court, he will give his opponents all the litigation they want.

Boston and Philadelphia the league, he says is unpopular, while the association has the support and sympathy of the lovers of baseball. Johnson will probably stay in the committee appointed to examine President Thurman's American association papers and books.

SECURES HIS FORTUNE.

Concludes to Get Married and so Gets His Fortune.

ANY ARIZON, Mich., Feb. 25.—James Babcock whose uncle in 1888 left him $500,000 on condition that he would marry within five years, is about to take a wife. Miss James, sister of C. S. James, a prominent merchant of Waukegan, Wis. Mr. Babcock has been the recipient of more love letters and proposals than any other young man or woman of his time.

Insecure Buildings.

ALLEGHANY CITY, Pa., Feb. 25.—A brick building on Federal street suddenly fell late yesterday afternoon, burying one person in the wreck. A few minutes after the rear wall of the old Excelsior building, corner of Federal and Locock streets caved. Two men were at work in a tin shop adjoining the Excelsior building, were slightly injured. Romack's neck was broken. The building was burned out a month ago.

THE WOMENS COUNCIL.

Its Sessions are Closed Today in Washington.

OTHER CAPITAL CITY AFFAIRS.

Shipping Bill in the House; Senate Wastes a Precious Day; Minor Matters.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The first triennial meeting of the Women's National Council of the United States comes to an end today. It has been the most successful gathering of the kind ever held, organized women to a total of over 50,000 were represented.

Prayer by Mrs. A. C. Thorpe opened this morning's session at the Grand Opera house, after which a paper on the "Matriarchate," by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, was read by the venerable Susan B. Anthony, and Mary Seymour Howell spoke upon the "Gains of the Last Three Years."

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe delivered an interesting address upon the "Relations of the Women of the United States to Other Modern Reformers." Miss Mary E. Lease spoke "Regarding the Influence of Women in the Farmers Alliance" and a paper upon "God's Women," read by Rev. Anna H. Shaw, closed the session.

At the afternoon meeting Mrs. A. V. H. Watson, of the Chicago Post, spoke upon "What do the Signs of the Times Signify?" Frances E. Willard gave an interesting talk upon "Improved Dress." Harriet Stanton Blatch led a brief symposium, with closed doors, upon "Voluntary Motherhood," and Lillian Whiting, editor of the Boston Budget, talked about the "Position of Women in Journalism and the Future Outlook."

Tonight Miss Frances E. Willard will deliver a brief closing address, and tomorrow the twenty-third annual convention of the National American Women's Suffrage association will be formally inaugurated.

A POPULAR DELUSION.

Indian Not Being Extirpated so Rapidly as is Supposed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—One of the most curious and widespread of all popular delusions, says an officer of the bureau of ethnology here, is that which relates to the supposed steady extermination of the Indians of North America. "As a matter of fact," he added, "the Indians are probably more numerous on this continent today than they have ever been in the past, and they are steadily increasing in numbers from year to year."

"There are now in the United States 255,000 Indians. When Columbus landed they were almost undoubtedly of less number. The Indians of the time lived altogether by the chase. Under such conditions an enormous extent of territory was necessary to support a tribe with food. Each tribe, as things were then ranged over a great expanse appropriated to its own use in the pursuit of the hunt and fish. Between one tribe and another there was a constant hunting ground and that of another was always an extensive dividing strip. The whole country mapped out on this plan could not sustain more than a small population."

Senator Wilson Suddenly Dies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Senator E. K. Wilson, of Maryland, died suddenly at the Hamilton house here last evening. He took his seat in the senate Saturday apparently in good health, but was taken suddenly ill and died at 10:30 in his 70th year.

To Consider the Shipping Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The house has adopted, yes, 139; nay, 114, a resolution making the shipping bill a special order for Thursday and Friday.

Senate Does no Business.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Senate adjourned after the reading of the journal as a mark of respect to the late Senator Wilson of Maryland.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Snow and Wisconsin: Continued cold, fair weather; Minnesota, North and South Dakota: Continued cold northwesterly winds, becoming variable; fair weather Thursday.

PRICE OF A HUSBAND.

Widow of Gen. Burranda Will Ask for $1,000,000 Indemnity.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Transito Autarte, widow of Gen. J. M. Burranda, who was killed by the Germanist officials on board the American steamer Acapulco, and whose death resulted in the recall of Minister Mizner, has officially announced her intention of asking the United States government for $1,000,000 indemnity for the killing of her husband. Papers in the suit have been served on Secretary Blaine.

FREMONT'S CLAIM.

Heirs Will Contest the Ownership of Bird Island.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 25.—Rev. W. C. Covert, of Findlay, Ohio, has retained counsel to press the claim of Gen. John C. Fremont to the ownership of Bird Island in the Bay of San Francisco. The amount involved is $100,000.

Gen. Fremont, when he was military governor of California, purchased the island from Mexico. Uncle Sam repudiated the purchase and declined to either buy or reimburse the general, but took possession of the island, which is a key to San Francisco. The general's heirs have fortified and a light house upon it at the cost of $30,000.

Mrs. Jessie Bennett Fremont and her son will join the proceedings before the court of claims. The importance of the island and its great value make the litigation of widespread interest and it will be watched closely from all parts of the country.

LAUGH AT ANNEXERS.

English Speakers and Writers Who do not Believe in Annexation Talk.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Sir G. S. Baden-Powell, conservative member of parliament for Liverpool, who recently made a tour of Canada, says he has confidence in the loyalty of both parties in Canada. The Canadians are fully alive to the value of independence and will soon dispose of the few annexationists in the country.

He is of the opinion that the probable outcome of the present agitation will be a system of modified reciprocity with the United States. In the mean time the fight goes bravely on. The Marquis of Lorne is writing a series of articles in the Graphic on the situation. He says the annexation scare is a useful lesson, bringing home to our minds the fact that the colonies are practically independent nations. This is a wholesome thing for the public to be reminded of. No comparison is possible between the colonies and Ireland. The Marquis ridicules the idea that Canada desires to barter her independence for a few millions of dollars. SOME LAND MORTGAGES.

Superintendent Porter has published a bulletin covering the mortgage indebtedness in two states; one in the Southeast—Alabama—and the other in the Northwest—Iowa. There are some facts derivable from these returns which will be interesting. One is that the indebtedness in Iowa per capita is four times greater than the per capita indebtedness in Alabama, and is numerically five times greater. But Iowa contains at least five times the amount of salable property that is possessed by Alabama, and Iowa has an immense advantage in the lower rate of interest at which her farmers borrow and in the longer time for which the loans run. In Alabama the rate of interest goes as high as 40 per cent, and the average period of the mortgages is 2.73 years, while in Iowa the interest ranges to 20 per cent and the period of the loan is 4.03 years.

Capitalists would much rather take their chances with an Iowa mortgage than with one in Alabama. The object of borrowing in both states is about the same, purchase money, business, improvements, family expenses, farm supplies, to repay borrowed money, and litigation. The aggregate mortgage indebtedness of Alabama is recorded at $20,027,983; that of Iowa is $100,034,957. According to this report the total amount of real estate mortgages in Iowa in force Jan. 1, 1900, was $100,034,957. The average amount of debt to one of population is $101. Comparing these figures with those of England, we get at interesting facts. The average rent of land in England is fully $5 an acre, while in Iowa it is considerably under $3. There, also, the property of the land owners was mortgaged in 1880 to 58 per cent of the market value; and, as there has been a great shrinkage in values since then, the average indebtedness in 1891 is not far from 70 per cent. In 1895 the estimate was 33 per cent, showing an increase in seventeen years of nearly 30 per cent, or an upward tendency which has continued since. In the same year the average ratio of debt in England to each unit of the population was not $104 as in Iowa, but $225. In Germany the land mortgages in 1890 were 51 per cent, the average debt per unit of population being $190.

THE SUPERIOR METHOD.

The unique methods of advertising indulged in by some of our neighbors across the bay have before been referred to herein. The following is a sample telegram just published from Superior:

The H. M. Stocking Lumber company mills will be increased in a saving capacity to 17,000,000 feet this spring owing to the enormous log cut in this vicinity. It is calculated that the cut in the city mills will, if the snow remains, exceed that of last season by 30,000,000 feet.

This is brief and explicit—"the city mills will increase over last season by 30,000,000 feet." The possible increase of a tenth that amount by the Stocking mill is all Superior can boast in fact. All the rest is on the Duluth side, the Mitchell & McClure, Duncan & Brewer and Huntress & Brown mills, not to mention the Merrill & King.

There can be no question but that the movement in favor of cremation is slowly gathering impetus. Not only are leading men supporting the policy with their views, but they are also showing that they are sincere by directing that their remains shall be reduced to ashes instead of being consigned to graves. James Redpath, was one of these, and when he succumbed to an accidental injury in New York last week, his body was incinerated. The body of Emma Abbott will be reduced in a furnace in accordance with her wish. A new plan of entombment may also be cited as evidence of the tendency of thought in regard to the disposal of the dead says the Milwaukee Wisconsin. It comprehends the desecration of the bodies of the dead by currents of dry air sent through report shaped tombs in huge mausoleum constructed for the purpose. Plans have been completed for a building of this character in Greenwood cemetery, in which the projectors of the enterprise propose to invest nearly a million dollars in providing accommodations for the bodies of 30,000 dead.

Telegrams have appeared in a number of papers, among them The Herald, to the effect that two mutual insurance companies of this state—the Millers and Manufacturers and the Minnesota Fire had suspended business. Duluthians interested in these companies state that these telegrams are a grievous error, that neither company has suspended or is at all likely to do so, as both are in sound financial condition. The trouble seems to have risen from an application for their suspension made by a rival agent in Minneapolis.

There is great excitement in Washington locating towns along the Great Northern railway. But the trouble is that they don't know just where to locate them. The Spokane Falls Review remarks: "There are only two men who don't know all about the route that will be taken by the Great Northern; they are Jim Hill and his chief engineer. What they don't know is amply made up, though, by what the average newspaper knows—positively knows—about the interesting subject."

The death rate for the entire state of New York is figured by the state board of health at 19.05. The death rate in the state outside the large cities is about 16. There is a lesson in such figures, but few people care to read it. Multitudes prefer to make the struggle to live in some alley in a city rather than to breathe the pure air of the country. The tendency toward massing in the large cities is one of the evils of the times.

Duluth and St. Louis county want to make a strong fight against the proposition to reduce the county by cutting off an Eastern tier of townships. The county is big, but if there is to be division let the line be the other way. If this scheme carries, a tier of towns will be cut off, both St. Louis county and its future Northern neighbor without corresponding benefit. If the town of Sall-wade wants to be all in one county, why not come into St. Louis?

It appears to be the general opinion that the less Council President Hugo says the better he appears.

SEEN AND HEARD.

"There are," said the drummer, "some persons who seem to think that the people of the far West, however enterprising and hospitable they may be, live in a rough-and-ready sort of a style. Of course, the fact that people of refined tastes like to be civilized wherever they are, and in these days of quick communication the people at all established centers of population live in about the same manner throughout the country. One would be likely to find as many men in dress suits at an evening social entertainment in a Mon-tana or Texas city as he would at any similar entertainment in an Eastern city."

"Keep your feet always dry, and he on your guard against catching cold at this time of the year," said the doctor. "Look at the list of deaths and at the diseases that kill people, and you will take care of your health if you value your life. George Washington himself died from catching cold. He stayed out in a December rain, did not change his clothes when he got home, took a cold, and had an attack of ague, which was followed by the laryngitis that ended his life. He would probably have lived to be ten or twelve years older than he was at the time of his death if he had not caught that cold in the winter time. North half of my patients are afflicted with troubles that grow out of carelessness in regard to damp feet, chilly winds, and wet clothes."

Continued the doctor: "There is some fear of the grip coming back and bothering us in the Northwest this spring. It appears to be abroad in Europe in a mild form, but I don't believe it will affect us seriously though I notice there was a death in West Duluth the other day that was ascribed to grip. Recent statistics published in New York show that the deaths were increased 600 by the disease, so it may well be hoped that it will keep on the other side of the ocean."

A Deep, Dark Joke.
Duluth Tribune: It is said that Matthew Arnold never ate buckwheat cakes until he visited America in 1841. And yet he is held up as the literary apostle of "wheatness and light."

Tariff Pictures.
New York Press: "Higher duties and a complete tariff diminishing free list is the republican doctrine." Nothing of the kind, Mr. Free Trader.

Imports of merchandise free of duty have increased from $217,033,320 in ten months of 1899 to $235,234,538 in ten months of 1900—nearly 9 per cent.

Admit free of duty whatever you cannot produce satisfactorily at home. That is sound doctrine and republican doctrine.

A Business-Like Offer.
For many years the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have offered a good faith, $50 reward for a case of nasal catarrh which they cannot cure. The remedy is sold by druggists at only fifty cents. This wonderful remedy has fairly attained a world-wide reputation. If you have dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid; at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; if the eyes are weak, watery and inflamed; if there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice being changed and has a nasal twang; the breath offensive; a small taste impaired; sensation of dizziness with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility, you are suffering from nasal catarrh. The more complicated your disease, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians.

VIRTUOUS AND THE VICIOUS.

Minnesota's Proportion of the Former to the Latter Looks Well.

Minnesota ranks well when it comes to comparisons on the line of number of convicts to population. Census bureau bulletin No. 31 shows that only Vermont, Maine, South Dakota, New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Iowa have as few convicts in proportion to their population as Minnesota. Minnesota has 332 convicts in the 1,000,000 of population. The general ratio in the United States 722 convicts to the 1,000,000, so that Minnesota has less than half as many as the average state.

The highest ratio is found in Arizona, which has 2415 convicts in every million of the population; Nevada has a ratio of 2038, and California comes third with a ratio of 1838. California with a population of 1,200,000 has 2051 convicts, while Minnesota with a population of 1,300,000 has 432 convicts.

In 1890 the ratio of convicts to the population of Minnesota was 318 to the million, in 1890 332, showing a very slight increase. In Wisconsin the ratio has increased from 308 in 1880 to 314 in 1890; in Iowa it has decreased from 546 in 1880 to 525 in 1890; in Kansas it has decreased from 690 in 1880 to 643 in 1890, and in Nebraska it has decreased from 506 in 1880 to 389 in 1890.

In the United States at large there has been an apparent increase, from a ratio of 700 convicts to the million in 1880 to 722, which is an increase of only thirteen to the million in the past ten years.

Frederick Wailes, who is acknowledged to be the first authority in the country on all criminal statistics, considers this increasing ratio alarming, and believes that crime of a serious nature is rather on the decrease in this country.

How About That Domestic Ice?

To the Editor of The Herald:
In The Herald last night you say there are several of the ice companies cutting ice 200 feet above the water work's pump-house. This is a mistake, as there is nobody cutting any ice there but myself or the East End ice company, filling my houses at the place you mentioned.

Cash Wheat and Future on the Duluth Market.

MONEY MARKETS IN THE EAST.

The market opened strong here this morning on early bullish news. The first sales in May No. 1 northern were made at 5¢ advance over yesterday's closing prices, and in May No. hard at 1/2¢ advance over yesterday. Track wheat to arrive sold first at 1/2¢ advance over yesterday's close. The early news was to the effect that foreign markets opened with advancing tendencies on good buying. Bradstreet estimated the decrease east of the Rockies at 102,000 bu, and the decrease west of the Rockies at 1,138,000 bu. This report stimulated local speculation after the export ore had bought. Reports from St. Louis are that there is no truth in the reports of the damage to wheat crops, but that the outlook never was in better shape for such weather. May futures ruled somewhat fluctuating in price here. The news from the Southwestern wheat crops forced May wheat down in the last half hour. The small receipts of wheat acted as a bullish feature in spot wheat. The close was dull at unchanged figures for cash in store in May and May No. 1 northern, and at 1/2¢ off from yesterday's close in May No. 1 hard. The close was 3/4¢ below the opening for May No. 1 hard and 3/4¢ below for May No. 1 northern. CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The wheat market was plugged with bull news from all points of the compass today, and it held the market until towards the close. When it broke and sold down a cent and closed there. Cables from United Kingdom and continent continue some higher, and the continent brought buying orders. Other buildings for stores and dwellings will be erected provided certain local owners of property on East Fourth street will agree also to build.
